

iate your assistance in this matter.

Ole Fogdsrud left for his home in California after spending the fall months looking after his property interests here. He has sold his house in town, but has not yet disposed of his farm west of town.