

The Karnak News

Miss Mabel Qualey, who has been assisting with household duties at Selmer Larson farm, returned to her home at Cooperstown Monday.

Mrs. S. E. Wickham went to Fargo Monday evening to visit her daughter Mrs. S. Olson and to do Christmas shopping.

Charley Ross has caught three nice foxes and one wolf the past week. We have to hand it to Charley when it comes to hunting.

Mrs. M. Magnusen was a passenger for Fargo Monday evening.

Johns Haugen's family are all down with the flu and having a serious time of it. Mr. Haugen's sister Mrs. Johnson of Hannaford, who went there to take care of them is also down.

Mrs. Don Healey, who has been here the past week resting up and visiting her sister, Mrs. Fred Peterson, left for Cooperstown Monday en route to Grand Forks where she will have her eyes treated.

Misses Hazel Pitney and Florence Peterson were shopping in Hannaford Wednesday. Willie Magnusen just happened to go too. That's strange.

Miss Gena Skjeret went to Fargo Thursday returning Friday morning.

Quite a lot of excitement in town Thursday morning when Joe Griesinger's house caught fire. However, it was soon extinguished and very little damage done.

Mrs. Ole O. Kaastad went to Cooperstown Friday to do Christmas shopping.

Albert Larson returned to his home in Cooperstown Friday.

We are glad to see Arthur Olgard up and around after a severe case of flu and pneumonia.

Old Santa Claus gave Karnak a pleasant surprise last Thursday evening. He called on the little folks took their orders, gave some good advice, and a treat. When he left, he said he was headed for Hannaford, Revere and Sutton.
