

The Karnak News

Mrs. Ole Kravig and Mrs. Joe Griesinger were shopping in Hannaford Monday.

Herman H. Helland has purchased a good share in the Karnak State Bank and has been appointed cashier, and has already entered upon his new duties. Mr. Helland comes well recommended both as an up-to-date banker and also as a most moral and up-right young man.

J. A. Carlson has returned to Finley where he is interested in the hardware business.

Willie Magnussen, who is employed at Hannaford, spent Sunday with his parents Mr. and Mrs. M. Magnussen.

We are glad to hear that Miss Florence Peterson is getting along nicely after an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. S. E. Wickham, Superintendent of the Karnak Red Cross, announces that those who have yarn and socks will please turn them in as there will be no more knitting done and those having bills please send them in at once to the Karnak Red Cross.

Miss Maggie Olgard left Monday for Fargo where she will attend school.

Myrl Curtis and Leslie Stewart returned Thursday evening from Valley City.

John Feiber left Thursday for Canada where he will attend the wedding of Mrs. Feiber's brother.

Ed Ladbury is in Fargo on business.

Ralph Vance, who has been visiting his parents at Vance, N. D., returned Friday morning.

A number of young people were entertained at the home of Mrs. S. E. Wickham north of town on New Year's eve. The evening was spent by playing games, etc., and at midnight a dainty lunch was served.

Has anybody lost a dog? A handsome collie has taken up board and lodging with the editor. Large, handsome dog with brown spots on head. Wags his tail in approval to any name you may apply. Owner can have same by paying up the canine's board.

Look out for the bills advertising the big dance in Karnak soon. Our famous trap drummer, Mr. Olson is back from France. That ought to be enough.
