

Miss Cora Lykken left Thursday evening for her home at Grafton. Miss Lykken has accepted a better position in the schools of her home town for next year so she will not return here. She has taught the Grammar Grades in the Hannaford School for the past nine years, and in that time has graduated sixty-four pupils from the eighth grade, her biggest class being this year's which numbered thirteen. Miss Lykken has done very efficient work as teacher while here, and has always taken an active part in all school, church and social doings, and her absence will be keenly felt next year.

The Ladies of the Hannaford