

Tom Olson was the victim of a serious accident last Monday. Helping Alfred Gustafson repairing a well they had the pump with 75 feet of pipe lifted out and while placing the pump back in the well, Mr. Olson got his hand badly crushed between the plank on the well and the pump head. Several bones were broken in the hand and it might become necessary to have the thumb amputated.