

In a letter dated June 21 to his folks from "Somewhere in France" Philip Thoreson states that he is in a hospital, but he expected to be able to get back to his regiment soon. Censorship restrictions prevent his stating in what manner he was injured, but he says that he is eager to get back on duty, especially as he now has a little private debt to settle with the Huns.