

The influenza seems to have run its course in this community, and no new cases have developed for some time. At the present writing, Mrs. L. B. Moore is seriously ill from pneumonia, but evidently has passed the critical stage. Two of Julius Brekke's children and Mrs. Oliver Vint were seriously ill last week, but are now well on the road to recovery. This community has had its share of the influenza-pneumonia scourge the past month; but at that has been very fortunate in comparison with many other sections of the state.
