

WALUM NEWS NOTES

The H. G. Rohlwing family left Monday for California via auto. H. G. Rohlwing has farmed in this community for some time past but on account of expecting his two sons to be called to the colors, decided to quit farming and he has sold his horses and farm machinery and rented his place to Elmer Wallum. The Rohlwing's have a host of friends in this community who regret their leaving. It is expected they will spend the winter in California but have laid no plans for a longer period than that. Possibly they may return to North Dakota next summer.

E. W. Everson went to Fargo Wednesday on business returning home Friday.

Erik Rud came up from Valley City Thursday to spend a few days on his farm west of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Justin Wallum are both sick in bed with the flu but are reported improving.

Geo. J. Jacobson and Henry Lewis are installing furnaces in their homes.

Last week's Red Cross shipment consisted of 21 re-modeled army shirts.

James Carroll and Fred Etter motored to Valley City Wednesday on business.

Carl E. Werner is confined to his bed with an attack of the flu. Henry Lewis is taking care of the store while Mr. Werner is on the sick-list.

E. W. Everson left Monday via auto for points in Walsh county on political business. Mr. Everson expects to be gone until about Nov. 5.
