

Julius Westley returned home Thursday having secured his discharge from the Navy where he has been a member of the Band of the U. S. S. North Carolina for the past two years. Since Julius first came on board the ship has made fifteen trips to Europe mostly as a convoy for troopships, so Julius has had the experience of crossing the Atlantic thirty times. Like all of the other boys Julius is glad to get out of the service, and to get back home and into civilian clothes once more.
