

Mrs. Ole Wilson has received a letter from her sister who lived at Cloquet, Minn., in the region destroyed by the recent forest fire. She states that all their property was burned, and the fire was so near that the railroad coaches on which they left Cloquet had caught fire before they pulled out. The refugees were splendidly treated and given every accommodation at Superior and Duluth. No one, who has not gone through it, can realize the horrors and sufferings experienced by the victims of the fire.
