

Jamestown's improvements this year are summed up as follows: Total railroad buildings, $120,500; total business building, $121,250; total residences, $144,425; grand total, $386,175.

The fear that the new postal note will come into circulation as currency need not exercise the public. That has been guarded against. The notes are payable only at the issuing and receiving offices, and the time is limited to three months. Again, the great majority of the notes will be issued for fractions of decimals—like $1.37, or 67 cents—and the bother of making change would alone make them unpopular as a circulating medium. The new notes will simply fulfill their mission—that of permitting the transmission of small and odd sums with safety through the mails. As such they will fill a long felt want.

Not Needed.

As towns usually invoice up on their stock of home kickers, or that class of grannies who haven't a spark of enterprise and can't bear to see others push and prosper. Cooperstown has reason to feel especially favored. However she has a few self destructive enemies, to whom the following remarks from the La Moure Progress will apply with directness:

"We have a few people in our midst who ought to be shipped out of town as second class freight, for they do not come under the head of necessary evils. They are the fellows who try to discourage new comers and throw cold water on every business project started in the interest of the town. They do not realize that it is individual effort that must make either village or city, and that when they talk thus their individual effect is neutralizing the work of two or three earnest, public spirited men. Let them stop one moment and figure just how much of a town there would be if there were enough of their kind of people in it. Where would be the growth if the workers now so heartily laboring for the development of our resources were to adopt the style and tone of some of the drones who having interests, fail to fully appreciate the situation, or still worse, having no interests, are envious of the prosperity of men who had "sand" to come in and make a prosperous town out of the elements that only needed the master hand to control them. Now one and all: We have the men, material, and resources to make a large city, and we are going to rightly use these elements. Remember, we do not need you, and if you are not satisfied with the outlook, why, git! We don't want any bears in our market till the stock exchange is organized."
