Judge Edgerton, chief justice of Dakota, has rendered the decision of the court that the capital commission is an illegal body, and his order ousts them from their positions with the costs upon them. The case, no doubt, will be appealed.

According to the estimates in the interior department the Northern Pacific cost upwards of sixty-seven million dollars. President Villard puts it at ninety-three millions. The land grant of the road is valued by experts at one hundred and eight million dollars.

The postmasters have received from the department a circular regarding the new postal law. It reminds the letter writing public that letter postage must be prepaid as a condition of the letter being forwarded. If the postage is insufficient, and there is a return card on the envelope, the letter will be returned to the writer. If not, notice will be forwarded to the party to whom the letter is addressed, stating the amount of postage due on the detained letter, upon the receipt of which the letter will be forwarded.
