

CANTON.

The Position of the City in Case of War.

From the N. Y. Herald. The city of Canton is the wealthiest and most active in China. Apart from its large foreign trade it has a great domestic trade, a considerable portion of which is carried in coasting vessels.

The effect of a blockade may be judged from the action of the British government in regard to Canton in 1853. That port was blockaded and all trade was interdicted.

In the narrative of Lord Elgin's mission to China may be found a short account of the blockade of Canton. It is there stated that the ambassadors were anxious to effect the speedy removal of this restriction.

Fears of a rising against Europeans in the towns and cities of China in the event of a war are only too well grounded. The present riot is only one in a series of outrages.

The person addressed, who was buried in deep reverie, his thoughts thousands of miles away from China at the time, looked up on hearing the English word and immediately recognized the speaker was a European.

The Paris newspapers have begun a war upon King Alfonso, being convinced that henceforth he will be an ally to Germany as he accepted the colony of Ubiana a Stranbury, Alaska, and appeared publicly in the uniform of his regiment.

THE HIGHEST AUTHORITY.

Upon a Subject of Vital Interest, Effecting the Welfare of All.

The following remarkable letter from one of the leading and best known scientific writers of the present day is especially significant, and should be of unusual value to all readers who desire to keep pace with the march of modern discoveries and events:

"A general demand for information is one of the most distinctive characteristics of the nineteenth century. The common people, as well as the more enlightened and refined, cry out with no uncertain voice to be emancipated from the slavery of conservatism and superstition which has held the masses in gross ignorance during a large portion of the world's history, and in the time of the 'Dark Ages' came near obliterating the last glimmer of truth.

FRONT ROYAL, Va.—Dr. G. H. Hill says: "Brown's Iron Bitters seems to give general satisfaction. I recommend it strongly." For 25 years I have been afflicted with Catarrh so much that I have been confined to my room for two months at a time.

"I am well aware of the censure that will be meted out to me for writing this letter but I feel that I cannot be true to my honest convictions unless I extend a helping hand and endorse all that I know to be good. The extended publications for the past few years, and graphic descriptions of different diseases of the kidneys and liver have awakened the medical profession to the fact that these diseases are greatly increasing.

"After this I prescribed this medicine in full doses in both acute and chronic nephritis, (Bright's disease) and with the most satisfactory results. My observations were neither small in number nor hastily made. They extended over several months and embraced a large number of cases which have proved so satisfactory to my mind that I would earnestly urge upon my professional brethren the importance of giving a fair and patient trial to Warner's Safe Cure. In a large class of ailments where the blood is obviously in an unhealthy state, especially where glandular engorgements and inflammatory eruptions exist, indeed in many of those forms of chronic indigestion in which there is no evidence of organic mischief but where the general health is depleted, the face sallow, the urine colored, constituting the condition in which the patient is said to be 'bilious,' the advantage gained by the use of this remedy is remarkable. In Bright's disease it seems to act as a solvent of albumen, to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes; to wash out the tubular debris which blocks up the tubular uriniferi, and to prevent a destructive metamorphosis of tissue."

"Belonging as I do to a branch of the profession that believes that no one school of medicine knows all the truth regarding the treatment of disease, and being independent enough to select any remedy that will relieve my patients, without reference to the source from whence it comes, I am glad to acknowledge and commend the merits of this remedy thus frankly."
