

collar.

It will be worn to the latest position, or until the heated term renders it uncomfortable, as it rather has increased, its hold in favor.

Of tinted ostrich feathers, mounted on tortoise shells, are still the height for evening dress. They are in the shape of a fan, and usually have a brilliant plumage bird or a cluster of roses set in the center of the

in a score of tints, ranging from