

—The towns of Harvard, Odell and Hannaford are now platted and on the market, and each place promises to be quite a burg. The Lenham E. & L. Co. will erect elevators or warehouses at each point, and the railroad company will lend its influence to the development of these embryo towns by putting in sidetracks, depots, etc.