SCISSORS.
 Abon Ben Fogy (may his tribe decrease)
 Awoke one morning from a startling dream—
 For where the valley once reposed in peace,
 He heard a dozen engine whistles scream;
 He smiled, and, gazing with his drowsy eyes,
 Beheld the spirit of Grand Enterprise.
 The spirit held a book, with every name of every man who added to the fame
 of the Pueblos, and Ben Fogy said:
 "Bright spirit, put my name down at the head,
 For I was here before young tenderfeet
 Erected these fine buildings on the street!"

The spirit wrote and vanished, but next night
 He showed Ben Fogy, by electric light,
 A list of names most beautifully pen'd,
 And lo! Ben's name was at the lower end!

Nitaw-Eg-Elbow, the Dakota delegate to the six days' go-as-you-please race, in New York, in a practice spurt with Fitzgerald, of twelve miles, convinced the latter that he was "heap good Injun."

Joseph Rawls, aged sixty, of Hamilton, N. C., had an invalid wife to whom he was much attached. For years he had prayed that when she died he might die at the same instant. He was on a farm Tuesday, when a messenger brought the news that his wife was dying. He hurried to her bedside and knelt as if to pray. The next instant he was dead.

In Iowa an old man named Jellerson was dragged from his bed at night and brutally strangled by, as it appears, his son-in-law, assisted by his son. His aged wife was sleeping by his side. The son has confessed.

Carrington News: The gopher is a nuisance to everybody, and yet is such a tame little "varmint" that he is easily captured and destroyed. Let the settler buy two or three common spring rat-traps for his small boys. Set the trap and put it just inside the hole where the gopher will walk over it, and it will catch him every time. No bait is needed. The boys can combine fun with business in this way. Those who want to have gardens in a new locality must look after the gophers very sharply. Corn soaked in strychnine, and a kernel or two just in the holes, is also effectual, but the poison is dangerous to handle unless by very careful adults.
