It has no outlet or inlet and is situated fifty feet above the line of the James river, from which it is distant four miles. At the present time the water in the lake covers 200 acres, and is literally alive with fish.

The Cooper-Husel Wedding.

The Wedding bells rang out again on Wednesday evening of last week for the marriage of Miss Laura Husel to Chas. L. Cooper, of Cooperstown, Dakota, the ceremony taking place at the residence of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Husel, in China, in the presence of a large company of friends of the parties, Rev. J. Hor on officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, parents of the bridegroom, were among the company present. Among the items which conspired to make the occasion a most happy one was the receipt by the bride of a large number of valuable presents, and also the serving of an exceptionally finely prepared supper.

The young people will make their home at Cooperstown, and are making visits to numerous friends enroute. They have the good wishes of a long list of warm personal friends of the bride in this city and vicinity.—St. Clair Republican.
