THE COURIER.

It is announced that Gov. White has decided not to call a special session of the legislature and the Courier is of the opinion that the governor has acted very wisely in so doing. The state institutions have been in just as bad shape years ago and even worse and got out all right without a special session and they will undoubtedly do so this time.

The jury who tried Lieut-Gov. Tillman, of South Carolina, for the murder of Editor Gonzales, brought in a verdict of acquittal and thus another cold-blooded, dastardly murderer is turned loose again. Had Tillman been a negro instead of a prominent man he would have been lynched within ten minutes after the murder was committed. Editors lives appear to be held very cheap in South Carolina.

The wrecking of the Kensal office by the lawless element of that community will be condemned by all law abiding citizens all over the state and it is hoped that the guilty ones will be speedily brought to the bar of justice and punished to the full extent of the law. The town of Kensal has the reputation of being the toughest town on the Soo line and the Journal has been a fearless exponent of the law and order enforcement in the town. The bootleggers and like ilk have become exasperated and last week broke into the office and smashed up and wrecked about $400 worth of material. It is now up to the decent and law abiding people of Kensal and of the county to stand by the Journal and uphold its stand for good government and to use their best endeavors to punish the guilty parties.

C. D. Van Dusen, a special agent of the department of justice, who just made a trip of inspection across the country says the provisions of the new law which prevents anyone with anarchistic beliefs becoming a citizen has in many cases been ignored in Chicago and elsewhere and as a result President Roosevelt will recommend to congress a radical change in the law conferring the rights of naturalization on Federal courts only. He will also favor a permanent commission to take testimony from applicants for citizenship and report to the judge. One Chicago judge it was found, admitted 1800 foreigners to full citizenship in one night, an act physically impossible unless the oath was administered in platoons which is unlawful.

Took His Medicine and Liked It.

S. P. Lesselyoung, representing John Sexton & Co., of Chicago dealers in extracts and jellies, appeared in Judge Moe's court, Wednesday, pleaded guilty to violating the pure food laws of the state, and paid a fine and costs to the amount of $35.95. Lesselyoung stated that he was not aware the goods he handled were under the ban of the state laws, as they had passed muster in several other states. He stated he had orders amounting to $40,000 in North Dakota, but declared his intention of cancelling them and dropping that class of goods from his list.

The case against Lesselyoung is some more of the good work Prof. Ladd is doing in putting "fake" goods on the "bum," at least as far as North Dakota is concerned.

Let the good work go on.—Alliance. They can fix 'em at Cooperstown the same way if they want to.

DARE'S FRIENDS INNOCENT

Bullet That Killed Him Was a 44—Their Gun Was a 38.

Leonard C. Dare, the harvest hand killed on a Northern Pacific freightcar near North Town Junction last Thursday night, was not killed accidentally by one of his friends. This is proved by the fact that the bullet that killed Dare was 44 caliber, while the gun taken from Dare's companion was a 38.

Coroner Williams and the detectives are at a standstill and do not know what move to make next. They had thought that Dare was probably shot by his friends in the excitement of the hold up; but since that theory has been exploded they are at sea.

Coroner Williams weighed the bullet extracted from Dare's skull and found that, although it was badly battered and scarred by passing through the bones of the skull, it weighed 182 grains. A 44 caliber bullet weighs 210 grains while the heaviest 38 caliber bullet weighs less than 160 grains.

Coroner Williams will have the testimony of Dare's two companions taken by a notary public at Walkerton, Ind., where they now are.

The police are about to abandon the case, as the murder occurred outside the city limits and properly belongs to the sheriff's office.—Journal.

A New Hero Arises.

All hail the name of Bartlett. A new hero has arisen, another strong man has come forth as a sacrifice. A new Daniel has arisen, and his name is Bartlett. Heretofore the family name has been confined to a certain variety of pears, to a hymn writer, to a lexicographer and to a soldier. But now the name of Bartlett is to be inscribed still higher, and even the valorous deeds of the war-like Bartlett on the field of battle in the civil war will give way to the deeds of this latest Bartlett.

This new hero lives in North Dakota. Greatness was not thrust upon him so he climbed to the height and wrapped the mantle of greatness about him. Bartlett is a dreamer of great dreams. Will they be rudely shattered by the walling of infants and the imprecations of parents?

Here is the heralding of Bartlett's fame in the press dispatches from his native state:

Lieutenant Governor Bartlett of the North Dakota World's Fair commission wants to make an exhibit of the babies of the state at St. Louis, to show what manner of citizens are being born and bred on the fertile prairies and in the pure air of North Dakota. As it will be impossible to take the babies to the exposition in propria persona, he will do the next best thing, and will make an exhibit of their photographs.

It is believed an exhibit of the photographs of North Dakota babies will show the healthiest and best nurtured aggregation of infants of any state in the union. To obtain this collection Mr. Bartlett requests parents who have babies between the ages of 1 and 3 years to send him unmounted photographs at his home in Cooperstown. The photographs will then be collected and arranged for the exhibit.

Surely no one will be envious of the fame to which this man aspires.—Des Moines Register.

A Love Letter.

Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed Salve for Sores, Burns or Piles. Otto Dodd, of Ponder Mo., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. It's the best Salve on earth. 25c at H. H. Bateman's Drug Store."

Death of Mrs. C. C. Hart.

It was with deep regret that the people of this community learned of the death of Mary Nihill Hart, wife of Mr. Chas. C. Hart, which occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Reaick in this city on Friday morning, October 16th, 1908, from acute Bright's disease of the kidneys. Her death was greatly hastened by the birth of a still born baby which was born about 3 a. m., the same morning. The case is a very sad one indeed. Mrs. Hart had been ill for some time and had been undergoing medical treatment. When the baby was born the dread disease had such a hold on her system that the birth of the little one sapped her strength and she could not rally from the shock, expiring quickly three hours after. About a year ago Mr. and Mrs. Hart lost a little son and this was a hard shock to the stricken parents. When this last little one was born dead the shock was so great to Mr. Hart that he swooned away and remained unconscious for nearly a day, his wife passing away while he was in this condition, Dr. Burnap being in attendance. Mr. Hart is not strong and he is greatly broken up over his terrible affliction. He was looking forward to many bright days with his little family and now they are gone. His sorrow is indeed great and the sympathy of the people of Cooperstown, Jessie and in fact the county, goes out to him in the fullest measure. Brief funeral services were held at the house Saturday afternoon then the remains preceded by the band playing funeral dirges and escorted by the Odd Fellows lodge, were taken to the depot and were taken to Jamestown for interment along side of the little boy who had preceded the mother only such a short time. In a few brief hours a happy home is broken up, all the plans for the future ruthlessly swept away by the hand of the great destroyer—death, yet it is the will of the Heavenly father that this is so and we all have to abide by His will believing that He does these things for the best, and to Him we are left to turn in the hour of our deepest troubles. May the sorrowing husband find solace and comfort in the fact that his helpmeet and little ones have only gone a brief period ahead of him to a home where sorrows and troubles are not known.

Another Sudden Death.

Mrs. Anton Anderson, of McHenry, came down from that town last Friday to be treated at the city hospital, being attended by Dr. Briml. She was taken back home in her coffin Monday morning, having died Sunday afternoon, without any of her friends or kindred at her bedside. Just what caused her death the Courier is unable to state. Mrs. Anderson was 36 years old, and leaves we believe in addition to her sorrowing husband, five motherless children. She was a good mother to her family and a good wife, and the stricken family have the heartfelt sympathy of their many friends. The remains were taken to McHenry for interment.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by H. H. Bateman.
