There has been some reports of bugs and rust but we doubt if anything serious of the kind is bothering us here. There are some green bugs on some fields similar to the bugs found on pig weed but these some claim do no harm. There is a little rust in spots but it is not general.

And Goff has completed his life to Jessie and if you want to work up a rooster fight you can do it with Char-ley Hart over the line. It is safer to talk it over at a distance. Mr. Goff is a busy man these days. He has twenty six phones to put in and miles of line to build, so it will be readily seen that he will have a chance to keep busy for several days at least.

James Simpson, Jr., of Sharon, was in the city last Monday and favored the COURIER with a pleasant call as well as a subscription. He thinks Cooperstown is growing in size as well as in beauty right along.

The Fargo Commercial club will visit Cooperstown and McHenry some time next week. They will have with them the wholesale jobbers and will travel in a special train chartered by the club for that purpose. Our local commercial club should take the matter up and formulate some kind of a short program, meet the train and extend the glad hand. We are not in a position to give these gentlemen a big blow-out but we can extend to them a hearty welcome and show them around a little. If this crop is gathered in all safely we have no doubt but what the wholesale men will be glad to get the big orders from our local business men that they have coming. Let the local club get busy.

The lightning also struck the house chimney split-ting it from top to bottom, but did no further damage to the house or occupants. Mr. Person carried no in-surance and his loss is heavy.

$100,000 to loan on farm land. First National Bank of Cooperstown.

The Boston Bloomer girl attraction at Hannaford last Saturday was a paying proposition for both parties. There was a large crowd present to witness the game from Cooperstown, Binford, Jessie, Dazey and Wimble-don. The game was a good one con-sidering the heavy wind that was blowing, the score being 5 to 3 in favor of Hannaford. The girls cer-tainly understand the game and made many foxy plays, catching the Hanna-fordites asleep off the bases several times. They talk very little, which is surprising to many, and play the game all the time. They travel in their own special car. Carrie Nation played out in right field and carried her hatchet with her all the time. seeing that Hannaford is strictly a pro-hibition town, Carrie had no use for the hatchet and it will have a chance to get somewhat rusty while the team plays in this state.

The railroad commissioners came up the line last week and were met at the depot by the Commercial Club who put in a strong kick for a daily pas-senger service on this line. A number of the club were invited to go up to McHenry with the commissioners and talk the matter over. At Binford the Farmers Elevator Company wanted a site for their eleva-tor and this was also promised them. There was no complaints at McHenry.

P. A. Gunderson, formerly of Han-naford, writes the COURIER that he has located at Woodburn, Oregon, and appears to like it pretty good already. He says: "I have got settled down at last and will ask you to send the COURIER to my address. I have bought a small tract of land near Woodburn and as far as we know we like it first rate. The climate is very nice out here. It was quite dry for a while but we had three days of rain the middle of July and everything looks nice again. Fruit of all kinds by the car load. Strawberries as big as hens eggs. Woodburn is a small town of about twenty-five hundred inhabitants located in the William-ette valley about 25 miles south of Portland. Attention Farmers.

The report that the Minnie har-vesters will not be made after this year and that there will be no extras for them, is a falsehood, and the stories circulated to that effect by other companies, and especially by the International Harvester Co., are unfounded. ERICK ERICKSON.

Mr. Cooper, the leading capitalist and real estate holder of Cooperstown, N. D., was a guest in the city Monday night. He confirms the report of great crops in that country this year. Barley promises fifty bushels per acre, wheat twenty-five and oats fifty. Mr. Cooper went to Des Moines Tuesday morning to look after a farm he owns near there. Mr. Cooper is a representa-tive American and the pioneer his-tory of North Dakota must always re-cord his daring and resolution in open-ing up that great bread-producing region. At one time he owned 14,000 acres of its productive soil and having 150 horses tilling the same. He made a sale at one time of $50,000 worth of barley. Mr. Cooper has been the right man to show them how to do and how to bring about prosperity in his own country, also the right man to send out to sound its goodness, and would, if he could, get takers. He declares it's as good as Iowa.—Eagle Grove, Ia., Eagle.
