

THE TEACHER'S FOE

A LIFE ALWAYS THREATENED BY NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

One Who Broke Down from Six Years of Overwork Tells How She Escaped Misery of Enforced Idleness.

"I had been teaching in the city schools steadily for six years," said Miss James, whose recent return to the work from which she was driven by nervous collapse has attracted attention. "They were greatly overcrowded, especially in the primary department of which I had charge, and I had been doing the work of two teachers. The strain was too much for my nerves and two years ago the crisis came.

"I was prostrated mentally and physically, sent in my resignation and never expected to be able to resume work. It seemed to me then that I was the most miserable woman on earth. I was tormented by nervous headaches, worn out by inability to sleep, and had so little blood that I was as white as chalk.

"After my active life, it was hard to bear idleness, and terribly discouraging to keep paying out the savings of years for medicines which did me no good."

"How did you get back your health?"

"A bare chance and a lot of faith led me to a cure. After I had suffered for many months, and when I was on the very verge of despair, I happened to read an account of some cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The statements were so convincing that I somehow felt assured that these pills would help me. Most people, I think, buy only one box for a trial, but I purchased six boxes at once, and when I had used them up, I was indeed well and had no need of more medicine.

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enriched my thin blood, gave me back my sleep, restored my appetite, gave me strength to walk long distances without fatigue, in fact freed me from all my numerous ailments. I have already taught for several months, and I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Miss Margaret M. James is now living at No. 123 Clay street, Dayton, Ohio. Many of her fellow teachers have also read Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and are enthusiastic about their merits. Sound digestion, strength, ambition, and cheerful spirits quickly follow their use. They are sold in every drug store in the world.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE.

Rev. Joseph W. Cross, the oldest living alumnus of Harvard college and the Andover Theological seminary, celebrated recently his ninety-seventh birthday.

Daniel T. Jewett, of St. Louis, who will be ninety-eight years old in September, and who recently retired from practice, is probably the oldest attorney in the United States.

Miss Minnie Baldwin is president of a bank in Wister, I. T. She is also among the incorporators of the institution and will assume direct management. The concern has a capital of $25,000.

Brig. Gen. T. J. Wint has taken command of the northern division of the United States army, with headquarters at Denver. His career covers almost half a century of strenuous service. He is a native of Pennsylvania, having served through the civil war with the Sixth Pennsylvania regiment.

H. P. Bledsoe, son of the man whose life suggested to John Hay the poem "Jim Bludso of the Prairie Belle," is living in Denver. The elder Bledsoe lived in Warsaw nearly all his life, and was a famous character among river men in the old days. The old man, who died three months ago, always kept up correspondence with Mr. Hay.

Mrs. Howard Gould has the finest private collection of birds in the United States, in some respects exceeding the aviaries at the New York zoological gardens. Not only has she made it a pastime to gather from all the quarters of the globe remarkable and beautiful specimens of the feathered tribe, but she has also made it a study and a science.

Everybody knows Russell Sage as a financier. Only a few remember that at one time in his career he represented a New York district in congress. He was elected to the Thirty-third congress as a whig, taking his seat December 5, 1853. On the second day of the session he participated in a discussion regarding the creed of a clergyman who had been suggested for chaplain of the house. From that time on he took active part in the deliberations of that body, proving himself a strong debater, but doing his best work in committee.

COMES A TIME

When Coffee Shows What It Has Been Doing.

"Of late years coffee has disagreed with me," writes a matron from Rome, N. Y., "its lightest punishment was to make me 'loggy' and dizzy, and it seemed to thicken up my blood.

"The heaviest was when it upset my stomach completely, destroying my appetite and making me nervous and irritable, and sent me to my bed. After one of these attacks, in which I nearly lost my life, I concluded to quit and try Postum Food Coffee.

"It went right to the spot! I found it not only a most palatable and refreshing beverage, but a food as well. All my ailments, the 'logginess' and dizziness, the unsatisfactory condition of my blood, my nervousness and irritability disappeared in short order, and my sorely afflicted stomach began quickly to recover. I began to rebuild and have steadily continued until now. Have a good appetite and am rejoicing in sound health, which I owe to the use of Postum Food Coffee." DEAF MUTES FOR PRINCIPALS AND WITNESSES

Testimony to Be Taken in Foreign Sign Languages and Translated Into English—Problem for Judge and Jury—Story of the Quarrel.

New York.—The most remarkable ever tried in a court of law will be heard when the New York supreme court takes up its autumn calendar.

Yet to say that the case will be "heard" is not stating the exact facts, for the testimony will be given in that most silent form of all—silence—the sign language of the deaf-mutes. Both the parties to the case are deaf-mutes and all the witnesses, of whom there will be 50 or 60, are likewise afflicted, so that the story of the trouble that has landed them in court will come from the fingers instead of from the lips.

But this is not the only remarkable feature of this unusual case, which is further complicated by the fact that some of the witnesses cannot "speak" English, so that a great deal of the testimony will have to be given first able apartment on Washington Heights.

"As soon as Lippens came to this country he became a fast friend of Loew. The latter was the first prominent deaf-mute to welcome him to New York, and their families became closely associated. Dinner parties, at which the elite of deaf-mutes were present, social affairs of every kind, made the Loews and Lippens families well known and popular, and a friendship between them grew stronger and stronger.

"One evening Lippens was a guest at Loew's house. The conversation came, somehow, to the honors that had been heaped upon Loew by the emperor of Austria, Francis Joseph. With fingers that twinkled with pride,

"The belligerents are both prominent in New York city, where they reside. There are two suits, one brought as an offset to the other, so that both parties are plaintiffs and each is a defendant. And, most curious point of all, considering the fact that everyone connected with the affair is a deaf-mute, the two suits are for—slander!"

"It would be hard, then, to conceive a more intricate, complicated, paradoxical situation than presents itself now."

"Jacques Loew, one of the plaintiff-defendants, is a well-known resident of New York, which he has made his home for the past 30 years since he came from Austria. Although a deaf-mute, he is an expert worker in leather and plush goods, and made a good living even before he became a partner in one of the biggest concerns manufacturing these goods. For a score of years he was a prominent figure at Fleischmann's Vienna bakery, where his huge white mustache and dignified bearing earned for him the sobriquet of 'The Baron.' He breakfasted at Fleischmann's early every morning, and at dinner every evening was generally surrounded by a score or more of guests, all deaf-mutes, whose animated conversation was most interesting to other patrons of the restaurant.

"Married Deaf Mutes. "When nearly 50 years of age Mr. Loew married a deaf-mute daughter of Louis Sonneborn, a retired millionaire merchant, who lives in West Eighty-third street, and has two children, the son, strange to say, being a deaf-mute like his parents, it being unusual for the affliction to descend from one generation to another. Young Loew, however, became a deaf-mute through illness and not as a direct inheritance. Their daughter, a beautiful girl of 15, possesses the faculties of both speech and hearing. One of Mrs. Loew's sisters married a son of Meyer Guggenheim, the 'Silver King,' who died recently. Mr. and Mrs. Loew spend their summers with the Sonneborns at Long Branch, where they drive the smartest rigs and entertain largely.

"The other defendant-plaintiff in the case is almost equally well known, and among the deaf-mutes perhaps even more prominent than his septuagenarian opponent. He is Wilhelm Lip-pen, an art, that makes him unique among craftsmen. He engraves upon gold and silver by a process all his own, and since his arrival in New York four years ago has been employed at a very high salary by Tiffany & Co. He had been in this country less than a year when he became known to fame by personally presenting President Roosevelt with a silver dollar on which was the effigy of the president in rough rider dress on horseback, for which Mr. Roosevelt spoke his thanks in German. Mr. Lippens understanding the movement of the lips when they frame words in his native tongue.

"Mr. Lippens is married and lives with his wife who, like him, is a deaf-mute, and two thoroughly normal and unusually bright children in a fashion-

WOULDN'T HAVE IT KNOWN.

Man Didn't Sign Check Because His Benefactions Were Done Secretly.

Four or five ladies hustled into Mr. M.'s private office the other day, relates the Chicago Journal, "What can I do for you, ladies?" he asked, pleasantly.

"Why, Mr. M.," began one of the visitors, "we are taking up a subscription, and we know you wouldn't like it if we didn't give you an opportunity to subscribe."

"M. bowed graciously and asked: 'And the object?' Of course, it is a worthy one, or you would not be interested in it," replied the spokeswoman; "we think it a very worthy object. It is to build a home for aged and indigent widows."

"Excellent! Excellent! I shall take pleasure in making you out a check," "Oh, how lovely you are, Mr. M.," exclaimed the spokeswoman, when she received the bit of paper and read the amount—$500. "Oh, we didn't expect to get that much from you! We are ever so much obliged."

"So good of him!" and similar exclamations were heard as the check was passed around for the admiration of the party.

"Mr. M.," said the lady who handed the check last, "you haven't signed it."

"That is because I do not wish my benefactions known to the world," said Mr. M., modestly. "I wish to give the check anonymously." And he bowed the ladies out with great dignity.

DENTIST'S ENTERPRISE.

Took Unique Method of Making People Acquainted with His Business.

A young man with ingenuity enough to warrant success recently identified himself with a Milwaukee dentist, that boasts of having one of the largest congregations in the city, relates the Evening Wisconsin.

"He made himself generally useful, offering to sing in the choir, teach Sunday school, act as usher, or do anything that would help the good cause along. He was finally asked to serve in the capacity of usher, which he did with great alacrity.

"As he passed the collection box the minister noticed that he handed each person a slip of white paper. At first the minister supposed they were the envelopes in which the money for specified purposes is usually inclosed, but after a few Sundays of assiduous work on the part of the usher, the minister decided to investigate.

"He discovered that the young man was a struggling young dentist, and was handing out his business cards."

Reads Like a Miracle. Moravia, N. Y., July 17th. (Special)—Borivich on the marvelous is the case of Mrs. Ben. Wilson, of this place. Suffering from Sugar Diabetes, she wasted away till from weighing 200 lbs. she barely tipped the scales at 130 lbs. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her. Speaking of her cure her husband says:—

"My wife suffered everything from Sugar Diabetes. She was sick four years and doctored with two doctors, but received no benefit. She had so much pain all over her that she could not rest day or night. The doctors said that she could not live.

"Then an advertisement led me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and they helped her right from the first. My wife was cured. Dodd's Kidney Pills were a God-sent remedy to us, and we recommended them to all suffering from Kidney Disease."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all Kidney Diseases, including Bright's Disease, and all Kidney aches, including Rheumatism.

An Important Legal Victory. Allen S. Olmsted, of Le Roy, N. Y., is the inventor and proprietor of "Foot Ease," a well-known proprietary article of merit and enjoying a large sale all over the world. Mr. Olmsted has been a heavy advertiser, and has been able to make a trade-mark of great value. Others have noted this with jealous eye and have sought, by underhand methods and by copying, to steal the benefits he had earned from confounding the mind of the public. Mr. Olmsted brought his dishonest competitors into the Supreme Court of New York State, which recently granted an injunction with costs, restraining the offenders from making or selling a foot powder resembling Allen's Foot Ease in outward form or design. The entire advertising fraternity of the United States owes a debt of gratitude to Mr. Olmsted for taking this firm stand against the buccaneers of trade, who, having no inventive power themselves, are always willing to profit by another's brains, and, by methods akin to those of the bushranger, become social highways in a stealing of the benefits of long, extensive and clever advertising.

TWO YEARS OF AGONY.

One Cake of Cuticura Soap and One Box of Cuticura Cured Baby's Awful Humor.

"When my sister was eighteen months old a humor broke out on her shoulders, extending clear across the back. For two years it caused her intense suffering. It would sear over and then crack open and a watery matter ooze from it. Then the scabs would fall off and it would be raw for a time. We had several different doctors and tried everything we could think of, but without effecting a cure. Then we got one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, which cured her completely and without scar or blemish. (Signed) Lillie Chase, Walker, 5 Tremont St., Woodford, Me."

P. O. Box 297, Little Rock, Ark. Last spring and summer I used Dr. Fushck's Kuro with marvelous results. I regard this remedy as a wonder of the age. For years I have suffered with nervousness, and when I got up mornings would be dizzy for moments. I would have blind staggers. I have been under the care of four physicians; their treatment did not do me a particle of good. I finally used three packages of Fushck's Kuro and am now a well and happy woman. Fushck's Kuro has created new blood and flesh for me; since using it I have gained 30 pounds. I lose no opportunity to recommend it to my many friends here. Very respectfully, Mrs. W. Oury.

Must be made to pay for the folly of his flippant fingers in a court of law. And they called in a lawyer. He was John Loew, who, by the way, is no relation to Jacques, though one of his sons, Moses, is a deaf-mute and a member of the Union League. John Loew's daughter, Mrs. Rosalie Loew-Whitney, is also a prominent lawyer.

"On being served with a notice that he must answer in court for the alleged indiscretions of his fingers, Lippens immediately engaged counsel for himself, who has announced a counter suit. Both cases will come to trial at

Cure For The Blues

ONE REMEDY THAT HAS NEVER FAILED Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way: She has been feeling "out of sorts."

for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart-beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her menstrual period she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up; you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Mrs. Rosa Adams, of 819 12th Street, Louisville, Ky., niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C.S.A. She writes: Dear Mrs. Finkham:—

"I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with female troubles, extreme lassitude, 'the blues,' nervousness and that all-gone feeling. I was advised to try Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound, and it not only cured my female derangement, but it has restored me to perfect health and strength. The buoyancy of my younger days has returned, and I do not suffer any longer with despondency, as I did before. I consider Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound a boon to sick and suffering women."

If you have some derangement of the female organism, write Mrs. Finkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.
