"Oh, isn't it jolly!" said Dicky to Dolly. "I wonder why people complain. If we are together, what matters the weather? I love to be out in the rain!"
"No need of a 'brolly,'" said Dicky to Dolly. "We're not made of sugar or salt!"

A Mrs. Malaprop.
The mistress of a certain boarding house is noted among her boarders as much for her entertaining conversational powers as for the fine table she sets. Nevertheless she is something of a Mrs. Malaprop, and occasionally severely tries the politeness of her listeners by the peculiar "breaks" she makes. They had women under discussion at the table the other night, some of the boarders expressing a preference for slender figures and some favoring embonpoint. "I like a good, plump woman," said the boarding house mistress. "None of these thin emancipated women for me."—Philadelphia Record.

Home Ties.
"Papa," asked the small boy who was reading the magazine, "what does it mean by severing home ties?"
"My son, one meaning," replied the paterfamilias from behind his newspaper, "is a term used to describe a man's feelings in regard to tearing apart certain articles of male neckwear usually presented to him by a wife with a fondness for bargain sales."—New York Tribune.

WHY FOLKS MOVE TO NORTH DAKOTA
It takes a powerful argument to make a prosperous Illinois, Wisconsin or Indiana farmer and his family from his old home to North Dakota. Yet, OUT THEY GO! We have sold 2,500 farms in Morton and Hettinger Counties, N. Dakota, to farmers from Central Western States, and we never could have sold them one single acre if the land hadn't made good to those who first moved. They expect FOUR TIMES THE PROFITS for moving, and North Dakota is giving it to them and more, too. Yet STILL SELLING for $12.50 to $15 an acre, and there are still free homesteads, 160 acres each, to the forward-looking who make haste to look over and talk with their old neighbors.
