

MORALITY NOTES.

King Victor of Italy is one of Europe's many monarchs who delight in little incognito trips into the country.

The latest royal convert to the automobile is the sultan of Turkey, who has hitherto expressed the greatest horror of the "devil wagons" of any and all kinds.

The kaiser has sent a medal to a Brandenburg woman, who has had twins three times. She herself is a twin, and her mother gave birth to four sets of twins.

The emperor and empress of Germany have let it be understood that they will not receive presents of any kind on the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding, which will occur next year.

The khedive of Egypt has amassed an enormous private fortune. Not only is he a monogamist and a teetotaler, but it is said that he does not smoke—even an Egyptian cigarette!

Prizes amounting to $8,000, offered by the king of Italy to exhibitors at the Milan exhibition next year, include one of $2,000 for the best type of popular dwelling-house adapted to the climate of northern Italy, and one for $1,000 for motor boats.

The first public statue of Queen Alexandra has just been commissioned. George W. Wade, the well-known sculptor, has been chosen to do the work. The destination of the statue is Hong-Kong, which has already given commissions for statues of King Edward and the prince of Wales.

The earl of Cranbrook, the oldest surviving British ex-cabinet minister, is 91. Lord Cranbrook was better known to a former generation under his name of Gathorne-Hardy. He was one of Lord Beaconsfield's staunchest supporters. Within the last few years the veteran earl has done some shooting.

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS.

The European sugar crop this year is estimated at between 6,550,000 and 6,675,000 tons. The German crop will probably amount to 2,200,000 tons.

England's first spinning mill to be worked by electricity has been started at Pendlebury, Manchester. It contains 80,000 spindles, and has no chimney.

The first solid train of canned peas ever shipped from an American canning factory went out from a canning company's plant at Longmont, Col., recently.

Last year 48,000,000 tons of cargo were carried from all the seaports of the world, and out of that total 31,000,000 tons were carried by ships of Great Britain.

Growing of grapes in grapeeries furnishes an important source of revenue in some countries, notably Belgium and the Channel islands, where large quantities are annually grown and exported. The United States is a good customer for them, as high as 35 cents to 75 cents a pound wholesale, and two to three dollars, and even more, a pound retail being paid for the fruit. Grape growing in pots is much practiced in parts of Europe, and especially in France, where the vines are largely used for decorative purposes on festive occasions.

ODD FLEAS FOR DIVORCE.

A Cleveland man is suing his wife for divorce because she threw a seashell at him when he read aloud. Obviously she was in the wrong. A seashell is not very hard.

A Pennsylvania woman who is suing for divorce finds no consolation in being the wife of a man who has broken all records in one line, he having deserted her 35 times in 47 months.

A Trenton (N. J.) woman wants a divorce because her husband, whose name is Finnegan, won't ask the legislature to change it. When a woman marries it is time she ceased trying to change her name.

A woman in Logansport is suing for divorce, one of her complaints being that her husband is too loving and hugs her with too great constancy and exuberance. She should have a tackling dummy rigged up and make her spouse try out his energy on it before being admitted to the house.

When Commissioner Garfield went to the Chicago packers and asked permission to inspect their books, the condition was made that no information he might obtain therefrom would be used in court proceedings against them.

Mr. Garfield gave this pledge, it is stated, and the packers allowed him to study their business in all its details from the inside.

Now, it is announced, the results of his study have been turned over to the government department of justice to be employed in legal prosecution of the packers.

Commissioner Garfield would not have ventured to give the pledge that was demanded by the packers without instructions from Washington. He pledged, not his own word, but the government's. It is not his good faith, but the government's, that is in question now.

The Journal has no concern for the packers, except as they are citizens of Chicago. If it can be proved that they are guilty of engaging in a conspiracy in restraint of trade, they ought to be punished.

But their guilt, if they are guilty, must be fairly proved. They must be given a square deal.

Since the government has elevated its vision to such a height as to overlook the nest of defiant criminal trust, in New Jersey, almost within the shadows of the capitol dome, in order to fasten itself a thousand miles away upon Chicago, the government and the President cannot be too careful to avoid suspicion that they are more anxious to prosecute western offenders than offenders in the east.

Some of the methods already employed in this case have not been particularly distinguished for decency. When the government breaks into a man's house and steals his private papers, when it drags the wives of packing-house employes into court and puts them under heavy bonds, it is hardly dignified, not to say honorable, nor even respectable.—From the Chicago Journal, Nov. 9, 1906.

PECK'S BAD BOY WITH THE CIRCUS

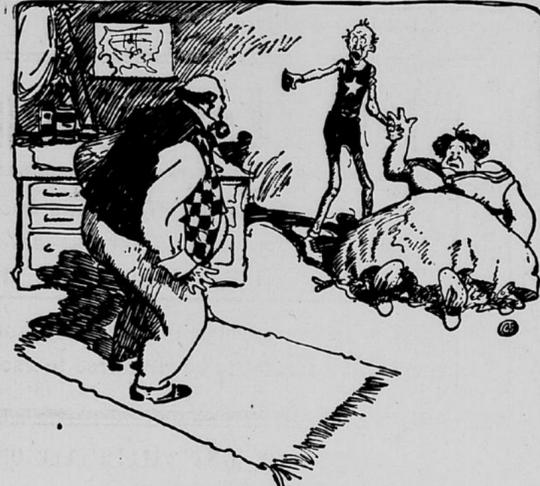

By HON. GEORGE W. PECK

Author of "Peck's Bad Boy Abroad," Etc.

(Copyrights by J. B. Rowland.)

Pa reproves the fat woman for losing flesh—The bearded lady faints in Pa's arms—The bad boy introduced into animal society—They pull the box constrictor's ulcerated tooth.

Winter quarters of the Only Circus, April 20.—Pa has had a hard job today. The boss complained to pa that the fat woman had been taking anti-fat, or dieting, or something, 'cause she was losing flesh, and the living skeleton was beginning to fat up. He wanted, pa to call them into the office and have a diplomatic talk with them about their condition, 'cause if this thing continued they would ruin the show.

Pa went to the office and sent for them, and I was there as a witness, in case of trouble. The fat woman came in first, and there was no chair big enough for her, so she sat down on a leather lounge, which broke and let her down on the floor, and pa tried to help her up, but it was like lifting a load of hay. So he leaned her against the wall, and said:

"Madame, the management has detailed me to censure you for losing flesh, and I am instructed to say if you do not manage to take on about 50 pounds more flesh before the show starts on the road, you don't go along. What you want to do is to eat more starchy food, and sleep more at night. They tell me you go out nights to dances, and drink high balls, and this has got to stop. Drink beer, and eat cheese sandwiches at night, or it is all off. This show can't afford to take along no 400-pound fairy for a fat woman when the contract calls for a 600-pound mountain of flesh, see?" and pa looked just as stern as could be.

The fat woman began to cry and sob, so it sounded like an engine blowing off steam, and she told pa the cause of her losing flesh was that she was in love with the living skeleton, and that he had been paying attention to the bearded woman, and she would scratch her eyes out if she could catch her. Just then the living skeleton came in, and when he saw the fat woman sitting on the floor crying, and pa talking soothing to her and telling her he could appreciate her condition, 'cause he had been in love some himself, the skeleton pushed pa away

Pa yelled for help, and I thought it was time for me to be doing something, so I went outside the office to the fire alarm box and touched a button, and then I run like thunder for the police, and the firemen came with the extinguishers and began to throw chemically charged water into the room, and the police dragged out the fat woman, who had fainted, and the living skeleton, whom she had pulled down into her lap, and laid them out in the ring, and then they got hold of pa and pulled him out, and the bearded woman had fainted in pa's arms, and the stove was tipped over and was setting fire to the furniture, and they brought the bearded woman and the fat woman to their senses, by pouring water on them from a hose. Finally they were sent to their quarters, and the other owner of the show came to pa and said he hoped this would be the last of that kind of business, as long as pa remained with the show, that one of the rules was that no man in an executive capacity must under any circumstances take any liberties with any of the females connected with the show.

Pa was 'hot, and said when women got crazy in love no man was safe, and the other owner of the show said that

The different kind of goats in a menagerie are the butchers, or the new rich, who get in the way of the society leaders and try to outdo them in society stunts, but they smell so that the other animals are made sick and the goats are only tolerated because animal society is afraid to offend them, for fear the leaders may some time go into bankruptcy and the goats will take their places and never let them get a smell of the good things of life.

The bears are the working people of the show, and the big grizzlies are the walking delegates who control the amalgamated association of working bears, and the occupants of the other cages have got to cater to Uncle Ephraim, the walking delegate, or be placed on the unfair list and slugged.

The hyenas and the jackals, and the wolves, represent the anarchists who are down on everybody in the show, who won't do a thing to help along and won't allow any other animal to do anything, and who seem to want to burn and slay, to carry a torch by night and poison by day, and want everything in the show to be chaos. These animals are never so happy as when the wind and lightning strike the tent, and blow it down, and kill people, and create a panic, and then these anarchists sing and laugh and enjoy their peculiar kind of animal religion.

The hippopotamus is like the lazy fat man that groans from force of habit, sits down as though it was the last act of his life and only gets up when the bell rings for meals, and he sweats blood for fear he will lose his meal ticket and starve to death.

The zebras and giraffes are the dudes of the show, and you can imagine, if they were human, they would play tennis and golf, drive four in hands and pose to be admired, while the Royal Bengal tigers, if they were half human, would drive automobiles at the rate of a mile a minute on crowded streets, run over people and never stop to help the wounded, but skip away with a sneer, as much as to say: "What are you going to do about it?"

The seals are the clean-cut Baptists of the show, who believe in immersion, and they have more brain than any animals in the show, because they live on a fish diet, though they have a pneumonia cough that makes you feel like sending for a doctor.

Gee, but last night when we thought spring had come and we could start on the road pretty soon, the snow fell about a foot deep, and it was so cold that all the animals howled all night, and shivered, and went on a regular strike. We had to put blankets on them, and no one of them seemed to be comfortable except the polar bear, the arctic foxes and the fat woman. The other owners of the show thought it was a good time to take the box constrictor and pull an ulcerated tooth, 'cause he was sort of dumpyish, so pa and I helped hold the snake, which is about 20 feet long.

Pa was up near the snake's head, and when the man with the forceps got hold of the tooth and gave it a yank, the confounded snake came to and began to stand on his head and thrash around, and pa dropped his hold and started to climb a gasoline torch, and they had to turn a hose on pa, and he was awful scared, 'cause he always did hate snakes, but they gave the snake chloroform and got him quiet, and pa came down, and they gave him a pair of baggy trousers belonging to the clown, to go to dinner fin, and pa was a sight.

Overconfidence. It is a dangerous point in any man's career when he feels sure of his position or his fame. Overconfidence is the first sign of a decline, the first symptom of deterioration. We do our best work when we are struggling for our position, when we are trying with all our might to gain our ambition, to attain that which the heart longs for.—Success Magazine.

Couldn't Obey. A British army officer in India was awakened one morning by feeling the native servant of a brother officer pulling at his foot. "Sahib," whispered the man, "sahib, what am I to do? My master told me to wake him at 6:30, but he did not go to bed till seven."

She Is Definite. It has been generally noted that when a man gets home in a somewhat uncertain condition at two o'clock in the morning, his wife is usually the only one who has anything definite to say.—Somerville Journal.

They Had to Turn the Hose on Pa.

and took hold of her fat hand and tried to lift it, and said: "What is the matter with my itty tootsy-wootsy, and what has the bad old man with spinach on his chin been doing to you?"

Then he turned on pa and his legs began to shake and rattle like a pair of bones in a minstrel show, and he said: "I will hold you responsible for this." Pa said he was not going to interfere in the love affairs of any of the freaks, and just then the bearded woman came in, and when she saw the living skeleton holding the hand of the fat woman, who sat on the floor like a balloon blown up, the bearded woman gave a kick at the living skeleton which sounded like clothes bars falling down in the laundry, and she grabbed the fat woman's blonde wig and pulled it off, and then the bearded woman began to cry and she threw herself into pa's arms and began to sob on his bosom, and mingle her whiskers with his.

much like shoddy aristocracy that you would swear they were human.

I remember when pa was first in the elephant corral, the keeper forgot to tell the big elephant who pa was, and when the keeper raised up one foot of the elephant and examined a corn, pa went up and pinched a bunch on the elephant's leg and said to the keeper: "That looks to me like a spavin," and he hebbed it hard. Well, the elephant growled like a boy with a stone bruise on his heel, and before pa knew what was coming the elephant wound his trunk under pa and raised pa upon his tusks and was going to toss him in the air and catch him as he came down and walk on him, when pa yelled murder, and the keeper took an iron hook and hooked it into the elephant's skin, and said: "Let that man down," and he let pa down easy, and the keeper some way showed the elephant that pa was one of the owners

DIFFERING VIEWS OF JOBS.

The Man in the Air Feels Sorry for the Man on Firm Footing.

A Chicago architect says that one day he was obliged in the line of duty to consult with the foreman of the iron-workers, to go up to the sixteenth story of the steel frame of an office building then almost completed. When he had finished his talk with the foreman, he was about to go down when he overheard an amusing conversation between one of the iron-workers and a man who was cleaning the windows of a similar structure adjoining the new building.

The man who was cleaning the windows was a husky Irishman; and as he swabbed away he whistled merrily. Suddenly he ceased his tune, and peering into the window on the ledge of which he was standing, carefully surveyed a roomful of pale, unhealthy-looking clerks. Then he called out to the nearest iron-worker on the building next door: "Say, my boy, just have a look at the lads in here."

"The iron-worker did as requested. "Floor fellows!" exclaimed the Celt, in a tone of deep commiseration; "but, thin, some men will do anything for a living!" And he resumed his task.

"That's right," agreed the iron-worker, turning again to the beam some hundreds of feet in the air.

Scared Away the Ghost. A zealous young curate went to stay with some friends at a country house, relates Ram's Horn. On descending to breakfast each morning he noticed his hostess inquiring particularly how he had slept, and he would reply: "Very well, but I had passed a very good night. On the last morning his hostess said: "Mr. Curate, you perhaps noticed how very particular we were in our inquiries every morning as to how you had slept, but the truth is that the room you occupied is said to be haunted, and we were anxious to know if you had seen the ghost."

"The ghost?" repeated the curate, thoughtfully. "Oh, yes; I do remember the first night I was here some fellow came and stood by my bedside."

"Oh!" said the company with great interest, "and what did you do?"

"I said, 'Please, will you give me a subscription for my Sunday school?' He instantly disappeared and I never saw him again."

Idaho Joins. Frazer, Idaho, Nov. 27th (Special).—Mrs. Martha J. Lee has given for publication the following statement, concerning the following statement, concerning

"I was down with Rheumatism three times," she says, "and each time Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me. The last time they cured me, and now I am able to get around and do all my work, though I am fifty-eight, and I can walk to Sunday School every Sunday. Before I took Dodd's Kidney Pills, I was so bad I could not stand nor sit. I shall keep Dodd's Pills on hand all the time."

Rheumatism is caused by Uric Acid crystallizing in the muscles. Healthy people remove all Uric Acid from the blood. Diseased kidneys cannot remove this acid, which collects in the blood and poisons every vein and artery. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Rheumatism by curing the kidneys; by healing and strengthening them, so that they can rid the blood of all impurities.

JOYS OF MATERNITY

A WOMAN'S BEST DREAMS REALIZED

Mrs. Potts Tells How Women Should Prepare for Motherhood

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to childless and lonely old age. Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to a displacement of the womb or lack of strength in the generative organs.

Frequent backache and distressing pains, accompanied by offensive discharges and generally by irregular and scanty menstruation indicate a displacement or nerve degeneration of the womb and surrounding organs. The question that troubles women is how can a woman who has some female trouble bear healthy children?

Mrs. Anna Potts, of 510 Park Avenue, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

"My dear Mr. Pinkham:—During the early part of my married life I was delicate in health; both my husband and I were very anxious for a child to bless our home, but I had two miscarriages, and could not carry a child to maturity. A neighbor who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it. I did so and soon felt that I was growing stronger, my headaches and backaches left me, I had no more bearing-down pains, and felt like a new woman. Within a year I became the mother of a strong, healthy child, the joy of our home. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a splendid remedy, and I wish every woman who wants to become a mother would try it."

Actual sterility in woman is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free to expectant or would-be mothers.
