

—Robert Moon, who has been connected with the Cooper farm as blacksmith for some time, is having a shop erected in the city, and expects soon to be striking the anvil with strong and steady arm. Farmers will see that his shop is filled with work.