OUR NEIGHBORS.

SANBORN.

Attorney C. A. Van Wormer went to Bismarck last Tuesday night on legal business.

L. E. Gallinger, of Michigan, has accepted the position of lead clerk at the Sanborn hotel.

A. E. Clendening, of Dazey, spent a few days in town last week. Al is always full of business.

The dance at the hotel Thursday night was a complete success.

David Wass, who was arrested on last Saturday for usury, waved examination and was bound over in the sum of $500.

Deputy Sheriff Millius is full of business these days. Charlie knows how to attend to it.

Sheriff Simons made Sanborn an official visit Tuesday.

Midwinter Century.

The paper which attracts most attention is the careful account of the battle of Shiloh, by ex-President Grant, handsomely illustrated. The paper is a valuable contribution to the history of the late war. Refighting old battles is better business for an old soldier, than jumping into the Wall street bear pit, and getting demoralized at "another man's game." Mr. James commences another of his weak and tired novels, which are too conservatively esthetic and "culchawd" to stand the wear of time. He will not be wasteful of his precious character sketches, nor of his valuable ink, in a long tale. Mr. W. D. Howell's pleasant sketch of Old Lapham and family is continued.

To compare such novels as these with laborious and sustained efforts of Dickens, Thackeray, George Eliot, or Victor Hugo, would be a libel on the latter. To lay a plot, to people the world with more than six characters, to go outside of the eminent respectability of Beacon street for material, is old-fashioned, and betokens a lack of refinement.

Peterson's Magazine is in such a demand by our lady friends that the February number disappeared instantly. Clas. J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, publishers.

Godey's Lady Book, for February, was secured at once from the office by a lady in search of valuable patterns. H. H. Haulenbeek, Box H. H. Philadelphia.

Ballou's Dollar Monthly is at hand, and is filled with entertaining stories, sketches, etc.

Vest is re-elected to the senate.

Don Cameron is re-elected senator.

Spooner will be the Wisconsin senator.
