The Entertainment.

The musical and literary entertainment, given by the ladies of the Baptist church last Tuesday evening, was witnessed by perhaps the largest audience two hours the audience was pleasingly entertained with readings, vocal and inand a minor drama, all rendered in an admirable manner by local talent. The exercises opened with a reading by Mrs. Stevens & Pickett. Dr. T. F. Kerr, which was excellently rendered, and met with a heart applause. C. T. Whidden followed with a solo-"Thy Voice is Near," which was sung in his usual fine voice with great effect. Then followed a dialogue, "Deaf-In a Horn," by Silas Sutherland and Frank Haskell. These young men took off the character of the "coon" in a style that BANKING BUSINESS was greeted with vociferous applause from the little folks on the tront seats. The duet by Mrs. Charles Husel and C. T. Whidden, "Oh, Ain't Dot Fine," brought down the house, and they were repeatedly called out. The tableaux been 'mancipated.
