

A Swedish Godiva.
 The 2d of February in Sweden is considered the midwinter day. In the era of paganism it was a great festival in honor of the heroine Goa or Goja, deified under the name of Disa, to whom the whole month was consecrated besides. The legend of Goa is very curious. It states that at one time when the country was visited by a frightful famine, the national assembly decided that, in order to alleviate the general distress, it would be necessary to put to death a part of the population, especially the old and infirm. Goa alone dared to protest loudly, and claimed to be able to propose a means of remedying the dearth, which would prove more efficacious as well as more humane. The King ordered the execution of the decree to be postponed; but in the interim, desiring to test the sagacity of the young girl, and to confound her audacity, he sent her word he would duly receive her on condition that she would come to his dwelling neither on foot nor on horseback, nor in a vehicle, neither dressed nor undressed, neither in the course of a year nor during any particular month, neither by day nor by night. Goa solved the enigma. She came to the King's house on a sledge drawn by a goat, holding on to the side of the sledge, with one leg resting on the pole of the sledge, the other on the goat. She wore a fishing net only in lieu of garments, and she came exactly at the epoch of the solstice, when the month is still undetermined, at the time of a full moon, but while it was yet twilight. Being permitted to speak, she advised that the old and infirm, in lieu of being exterminated, should be merely sent to the still unpeopled parts of the country, where they would be able to obtain the means of existence without being any burden to the community. The King liked the advice, and as the adviser had charmed him by her beauty and her wit, he took her for his wife.—Figaro.

Imperial Ceremonies in Russia.
 Mr. George Augustus Sala, one of the best-known of English Journalists, has been lecturing this winter in our American cities. We copy from an exchange a passage of the pleasant gossip with which he entertained his hearers, relating to two visits made by him to the Russian capitals. In 1857 he went to St. Petersburg, where preparations for the coronation at Moscow of Alexander II. were in progress, a part of them being the daily drilling of one hundred and twenty thousand troops of nearly every nation and tribe under Russian sway.

In 1881 he was again in the Russian metropolis at the funeral of Alexander II., his instructions to attend, he said, being worded thus: Will you be so good as to write a leading article on the price of fish—and go to St. Petersburg by the night express. "I don't think," he went on, "I ever saw a face more expressive of horror and terror and uneasy dread of that which was to come than was presented by the new Emperor. Even while they were going through the stately numeraries of investing him with the Order of the Garter it presented to my mind the aspect of a condemned criminal upon whom they were putting fetters."

But there is a brighter side to this picture—the coronation at Moscow in 1883. Mr. Sala stated that as he was obliged in order to attend to appear in uniform, he donned that costume in which he would have been presented at the English court, had he sought that honor; he was given a very humble position. But his private secretary, who held a civic office in London, and beside whose costume that of Solomon in all his glory was "small potatoes," was placed between the Khan of Khiva and the Emir of Bokhara, and was permitted to leave the cathedral at his pleasure. Thus Mr. Sala was able to get the start by two hours of his competitors, and send to the London Telegraph a telegram of seven and one-half columns.

What the Sexton Said.
 Mr. Lewis Edwards, Sexton of Mt. Vernon Place Church, Washington, D. C., certifies that for several months past he had been suffering with a severe cough which distressed him day and night. He was very much debilitated, with constant pains in his chest. After trying various remedies he used the Red Star Cough Cure, which gave him entire relief.

President Mitchell's Successor.
 It is reported in Milwaukee concerning the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul that it is generally understood Mr. Roswell Miller will be appointed general manager, and his assistant will be Mr. Ben Lennox. While there is to be no radical change in the policy of this road, there are to be one or two new offices created, which will transfer old titles and create new ones. It is said that Alexander Mitchell will resign the presidency next June. It has been learned that John W. Cary, general solicitor, will be selected by the directors to succeed Mr. Mitchell. Following this move, the officers of the road are to be known and named in the following manner: President, John W. Cary; the offices of the two vice presidents will be filled by eastern stockholders; general manager, Roswell Miller; superintendent, J. T. Clark; assistant general manager, Ben Lennox; A. C. Bird, superintendent freight traffic; A. V. H. Carpenter, superintendent passenger traffic; D. W. Keyes, general passenger agent; G. H. Hatford, general passenger and ticket agent; F. Merrill, assistant general passenger agent. Mr. D. S. Wegg will naturally fall in as general solicitor of the road. Mr. N. Goll will sit in Mr. Keyes' chair. There will be no change in the division superintendents. Mr. P. M. Myers will remain secretary, with his office in Milwaukee, and J. M. McKinley, assistant secretary, will reside in New York. Mr. Clark will relieve his superior officer of everything pertaining to the active operation of the road, and Mr. Miller will devote his whole time and attention to consultation with the various heads. It is stated Mr. Mitchell will travel extensively throughout Europe after resigning.

The secretary of the treasury, in response to a resolution adopted by the house, transmitted to the house a statement of expenses incurred in the appointment of special deputy marshals, supervisors of election and chief supervisors. The statement shows that during 1876, 1880, 1882 and 1884 the expenses for special deputies were $651,830, supervisors $928,334 and chief supervisors $304,752; total, $1,973,916.

"She tried her pretence hand on man, And then she formed the lassios, O!"
 "What is woman's worth?" asked a fair damsel of a crusty old bachelor. He did not know, so she said: "W. O. man (double you O man). But a woman feels worth little if disease has invaded her system and is daily sapping her strength. For all female weaknesses, Dr. R. V. Pierce's 'Favorite Prescription' stands unrivaled. It cures the complaint and builds up the system. Send two letter stamps for pamphlet to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y."

Color Your Butter.
 Farmers that try to sell white butter are all of the opinion that dairying does not pay. If they would use Wells, Richardson & Co.'s Improved Butter Color, and market their butter in poor condition, they would still get good prices, but it will not pay to make any but the best in color and quality. This color is used by all the leading creameries and dairymen, and is sold by druggists and merchants.
