Mr. Mark Sutherland informs us that the building of the two new school 'houses in Greenwood district has been let for $58. The highest bid for the work was $150. The material for both building will cost $800. One will be erected on section 27-148-59; the other on section 25, of same township and range.

Mr. F. H. Remington, of Valley City, The Democrat says, is showing the citizens down there what can be done in the way of combining wheat and stock raising. He has eight hundred acres under cultivation, one hundred cattle, two hundred sheep, seventy hogs. His sheep dropped sixty lambs during the last month, and are all doing well. Among his horned cattle he has sixty cows. His farm buildings are upon a scale equal to his farming operations.

There are already indications of the expected tide of travel from the east this season. The passenger traffic on both roads is visibly increasing, and letters of inquiry from capitalists and others desiring homes and opening for investment, continues to pour in, in every mail. The experience of many who went beyond the Rockies last sea son has tended to materially abate the Pacific coast fever, and the unoccupied lands of Dakota to-day appear proportionately more attractive to the discontented throngs of the eastern states .-Exchange.

I sued G, the publisher of a paper, for publishing as an advertisement: "Wanted, J. B. Johnson to pay for his paper cut the item concerning the plaintiff out of the paper, pasted it on a postal card, and sent it through the postoffice to a young lady in Minneapolis, to whom plaintiff was engaged to be married. It was alleged that the defendant meant, by the publication, that the plaintiff was an absconding debtor and a dishonest person, not entitled to the confidence and respect of the community. In the the suit G was victorious. The Supreme court of Minnesota held that "The publication of a fact, unless accompanied with malicious intent, was within the province of any publisher or business house." If wider publicity were given to dead beats there would be less of them .- Ex.
