

Larson & Tolstad have secured enough twine to supply all of their customers. No delay, so common last year, will occur by reason of negligence.

J. E. Wisner has a herd of young cattle which had run to the straw stacks and prairie pasture during the winter, and the butchers claim that they are too fat for beef. It is an honest fact that he is obliged to sell them below the market on account of their superfluous flesh.—Lisbon Herald.

Dazey, on the Cooperstown branch of the N. P. R. R., midway between Sauborn and Cooperstown, is a lively yearling. The hotel and depot were built last season. It is in the heart of a well settled country of extraordinary fertility, and is doing a business that would drive many a staid New England village of a thousand population wild with delight. Had it been founded in the boom times it would now be a metropolis. Like the Capital of Griggs county it is growing, without excitement and undue haste, to keep pace with the surrounding country.
