The Misses Gunderson, of Mardell, who are employed in the Sanborn hotel, came up on a home visit Monday. The Sanborn hotel is improving, and, if the landlord carries out his present intentions, it will, in the fall be remodeled to accord with the best houses in the Northwest.

H. R. Ashmore, brother-in-law of A. A. Grout, living near Diana, four years ago settled on the raw prairie where he opened a farm, his capital consisting of $1,100. This money he put into young cattle. He has this year sold $2,000 worth and has $2,500 on hand, has 1,400 bushels of wheat, an ample supply of corn and other grain, and a first-class farm residence and all the necessary buildings, and is fixed in excellent shape generally. His experience is an illustration of what is possible to do in Dakota.—Sioux Falls Press.

Well-diggers may learn a point from Sylvester Snow, who lives in range 61 south of Plankinton, Dakota. He always makes it a point, if possible, to find an ant hill, and digging directly beneath it, invariably strikes water at a depth of from nine to seventeen feet. It is said that the ants invariably locate their hills directly over a vein of water. He says he has tried the experiment several times in Dakota as well as in the east, and as yet it has not failed once.—Exchange.

A ship recently arrived in Boston from Buenos Ayres, bearing 31,369 hides, worth $125,000, from which cargo, when tanned, it will be possible to manufacture $1,000,000 worth of shoes. Most of these shoes go west to pay for the corn and wheat shipped to Liverpool, which pays for the dry goods and manufactured iron that goes to Buenos Ayres, and their pays for the hides. So it will be seen that, although in a round-about way, the hides are in the end paid for by the export of American cereals. American shoe manufacturers have carried the trade to so great perfection that they find no difficulty in competing with England, France, and Germany, and efforts are now making to introduce American shoes into Egypt, Cuba, and in the South American countries.—Exchange.
