Additional Locals.

Byron Andrus and wife went to Townier county, Tuesday.

Mrs. N. A. Yancey left on Monday for Cedar Rapids, Ia., called there by the illness of her daughter.

Barnes & Record, of Minneapolis, talk of putting in a 35,000 bushel elevator at Hannaford, this county.

B. C. Bound, of Red Willow, shows us sample of a 100 acre lot of wheat, measuring 36 inches in length. Mr. Bound says he will have new potatoes by the Fourth.

Mr. A. B. Richardson, of town 146-61, says that he has the foundation laid for 40 bushels per acre. He has ninety acres of grain, and the wet weather has not injured it.

An exchange says there is some intimation that a prominent capitalist from the east will give $100,000 to the proposed Congregational college for North Dakota, and it will bear his name.

E. W. Hagerty, of 13-148-60, called Saturday and presented us with a stalk of rhubarb, measuring 4 feet 7 inches, from tip to tip—stalk 2 feet long, and 7 inches in circumference. The leaf is larger than an elephant's ear, and is 3 feet 5 inches wide. The plant is of the Mammoth Sweet variety.

Thomas James, member of the Illinois assembly, is arrested for criminal outrage on Nannie James, a twelve year old girl, serving as page in the house. It is alleged by the child that James made the assault in a committee room of the house, where he forcibly divested her of her clothing, and by superior strength prevented her escape.

The site of the original Fort Lincoln on the bluff, about three hundred and eighty feet above the level of the river, is marked by a flourishing grove of trees, which were planted around or in front of the officers' headquarters. They prove that trees will thrive on our highlands as well as on the plains and bottom lands, but old settlers remember that these trees, though now neglected, had excellent care when they were young and tender. Then the ground around them was kept free of grass and weeds, and a mule team was employed steadily all through the season hauling water for these trees from the river.—Bismarck Journal.
