Knud Thompson wishes to whisper a word of warning in the ear of the gentle granger. Let not the sun go down before you visit his warehouse at Cooperstown and secure the only string you have on the elusive dollar. He buys his twine direct from the manufacturers and can sell it for what it costs other firms, and still get rich. Twine may be short in Dakota this year.

One car load of Marbel Head line just received by the Gull River Lumber company.

Berg & Larson have sold sixty-four harvesters and binders this year; all with the McCormick stamp on them.

Only a few Plano Binders left. Call early. The best farmers will buy no other. The Plano is the strongest and simplest binder made, and no horse killer. Knud Thompson.
