Rum.

Some years ago, in one of the counties of New York, a worthy man was tempted to drink until drunk. In the delirium of drunkenness he went home and murdered his wife in a barbarous manner. He was carried to jail while drunk, and kept there through the night. Awakening in the morning and looking around upon the walls, and seeing the bars on the windows, he exclaimed:

"Is this a jail?"

"Yes, you are in jail." Answered some one.

"What am I here for?" was the earnest inquiry.

"For murder," was the answer.

"Does my wife know it?"

"Your wife know it?" answered some one, "it was your wife you murdered." On this announcement he dropped suddenly, as if struck dead.

Let it be remembered that the constable who carried him to jail sold him the liquor which caused his drunkenness. The justice who issued the warrant was one of those who signed his license. The sheriff who hanged him also sold liquor and run a ten-pin alley. —Exchange.
