Around Town.

Wheat, 63 cents.
Heavy Frost Monday morning.
Editor Adams went to Fargo this morning.
Hon. Julius Stevens went to Valley City, Monday, to harvest his wheat crop.

Andrew Husel, while cutting kindling with a draw shave, last week, had the misfortune to draw the blade through the stick, and cut himself badly.

Mr. Irvin French, of Rockford, Ill., made a short sojourn in Cooperstown this week. He says Griggs county has the finest agricultural land he has ever seen.

Two or three loads of the wicked went out shooting chickens, Sunday. If we hear of such a thing again, we shall have to publish the names—of the chickens.

John Syverson is building an addition to his mammoth general store. When completed Mr. Syverson will have one of the most commodious stores in the Northwest.

Messrs. Enger, Jacobson, Blackmore, Lande and Skelton, went out to take the air, last Sunday. They found over fifty hail-stricken ducks, and a half dozen chickens, and are not afraid to own it.

John Hogenson has raised some very fine sweet corn this season. The cry that corn is not a successful crop in North Dakota is a libel on such energetic farmers as Mr. Hogenson, and the country in general.

H. C. Barringer, of Helena, had a valuable horse killed by lightning, Wednesday night. The horse was in the stable.
The bolt came down a 2x4 upright, while the horse was eating his oats, and knocked him out. Another horse standing beside him was uninjured. The lightning burned the horses hair, and run down one of his front legs, into the ground.

If any citizen of a county, who can read, and write, and pay taxes, does not subscribe for his county paper, it is pretty conclusive evidence that he manages to glance at his neighbors regularly every week. This is a cheap way of getting news; but if the same rule was adopted in regard to farm machinery, cooking utensils, etc., we should only need one good farmer in the county, provided he was centrally located and good natured. What he didn't have to lend he could kindly buy. The arguments of the non-subscribers, that he gets two or three papers already, as big as six copies of the home paper, is a dead give away on his intelligence—it is a fool's argument. A home paper was never published that was not of more interest and importance to the home people than the biggest twenty-four page blanket sheet ever published in New York. Let the good natured neighbor shut down on his free reading room, and the party will sneak around with 50 cents and subscribe for six months —in the hope of getting it for nothing the balance of the year. The home paper is generally equal to the intelligence of the subscriber, and he knows it. It is the $2 per annum that is the secret of there 'never being nothin' in the blank sheet, except locals and sich."

"So you have been here eleven years, Mr. Hardscrabble?"
"Yes. Ye see, I sort o' got attached to the place. I didn't have money to get away with."
