A Georgia Idyl.

From the West Point (Ga.) Press. Six miles east of West Point in Harris County, live two remarkable old people. They are Benjamin Gamill and his wife, respectively 73 and 76 years of age. They are now living on the same place that they took possession of when their young hearts were first united and they took has been some first united and they are some first united and th people. During fice for the labor interests. these long years they have moved but once, and then not more than half a mile. Starting life in poverty they worked together, and many thousands of dollars have been the result of their combined efforts. Neither is it possible to tell the amount in dollars and cents it has required to supply their many wants, but those who have had the care of a family know that unusual posperity must have blessed their lives or the task would never be accomplished. A most remarkable fact is that the youngest of their children-now the mother of two children—was born after Mrs. Gamill had reached the age of fifty odd years. The old spelling book used by Mrs. Gamill, and from which she learned her A B Cs. is now in her possession, and the date alone shows the great age of the book. has been carefully preserved, and will no doubt be handed down to grandchildren's children as a relic of rare value. A few days since this venerable old couple passed through West Point driving a fine young mule, on their way to visit a son and daughter in Alabama, 30 miles from their home. The old gentleman does his own blacksmith and wagon work, runs a farm, lives at home—and lives like a lord—while the companion of his life for half a century is the same sweet wife that she was when she vowed for better or for worse she would love and cherish him through life. Well done, good and faithful servants. When the messenger shall come and call them to rest from the toils of life, how pleasant to think they may enter the gates together. So mote it be.

TWO NOTED MINSTRELS,

Who Have Won Fortunes and What They Say About Stage Life.

From Stage Whispers.
"Billy" Emerson has recently made a phenomenal success in Australia, and is rich.

Emerson was born at Belfast in 1846. son-in-law, Mr. R. P. Hollett, at Englewood.

He began his career with Joe Sweeney's minstrels in Washington in 1857. Later on he jumped into prominence in connection with Newcomb's ministrels with whom he visited Germany. He visited Australia in 1874 and on his return to America joined Haverley's minstrels in San Francisco at $500 a week and expenses. With this troupe he played before her majesty, the queen, the Prince of Wales, and royalty generally. After this trip neleased the Standard theatre, San-Francisco, where for three years he did the largest business ever known to minstrelsy. In April last he went to Australia again, where he has "beaten the record."

"Billy" is a very handsome fellow, an excellent singer, dances gracefully, and is a true humorist.

Yes, sir, I have traveled all over the world, have met all sorts of people, come in contact with all sorts of customs, and had all sorts of experiences. One must have a constituion like a locomotive to stand it.

Yes, I know I seem to bear it like a najor and I do, but I tell you candidly that with the perpetual change of diet. water and climate, if I had not maintained my vigor with regular use of Warner's safe cure I should have gone ander long ago.

George H. Primrose, whose name is known in every amusement circle in America, is even more emphatic, if possible, than "Billy" Emerson, in commendation of the same article to sporting and traveling mengenerally, among whom it is a great favorite.

I contracted a fearful case of blood poison in 1383. I was treated by some of the best physicians in Atlanta. When I was given up to die, my physicians thought that it would be a good t me to test the virtues of swift's Specine. When I commence I using S. S.
