

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Scatter a little flour on the pie plates, and there is no danger of the crust adhering to the plate when baked.

A good way to dispose of the dressing which is sometimes left after the turkey is eaten, is to cut it into thin slices and fry it until it is a delicate brown; use just a little butter to fry it in.

A delicious pudding is made of crumbs of stale cake, or even of bread crumbs. Put a layer in the bottom of a pudding dish, and then a layer of jelly; currant or raspberry jelly is best; continue putting in these alternate layers until the dish is nearly full; then pour over it a custard and bake. Serve with a thin wine sauce or a sauce of boiled custard flavored slightly with vanilla.

Handsome pin cushions are now frequently made long and narrow rather than square. A very pretty one of blue satin had one corner of blue plush, on the corner opposite was a bow of satin ribbon of the same color; embroidery may be substituted for the bow. Another pretty one is made of several strips of different colored satin, with gilt cord covering the seams, or has a box pleating of ribbon around the edge with a narrow gilt braid sewed to the upper edge.

Sweetbreads boiled and served with canned peas, and with a white sauce, or a cup of cream poured over make an excellent dish. Sweetbreads and mushrooms are nice; the sweetbreads should be parboiled; about eight to one can of mushrooms is the proper proportion; after parboiling, cut them into small pieces and stew them in a little water; add the mushrooms after slicing them, and let them simmer gently for an hour; add a coffee cup full of cream, a lump of butter the size of a butternut, and pepper and salt to your taste.

Economy counts in the course of a year, and the care of the kitchen utensils, the wash tubs, etc., is by no means lost or useless; it is wise also to look after the fruit cans; when the fruit is taken out they should be washed in warm, not hot suds, and should then have a little soda or ammonia put into them and be filled with water, and allowed to stand for an hour or two, then they should be rinsed in clear water, and the rubbers and tops all be taken equally good care of, so that when they are needed the next autumn no loss may occur.

Veal cutlets may be fried in a batter, and make an excellent dish. The batter consists of half a pint of milk, one beaten egg, and flour to thicken; dip the cutlet into the batter and fry, but before this process, the cutlet should be browned in some beef drippings or lard, so that the frying after dipping into the batter really amounts to nothing more than cooking the batter; season each piece by sprinkling pepper and salt over it; if it is desirable to make gravy to serve with it take the meat out of the pan, sprinkle flour into it and add salt and pepper, and a little water; let it come to a boil and then pour it over the cutlets.

An excellent salad dressing, which if kept cool will keep for a long time, is made of the yolks of two eggs beaten well with two-thirds of a goblet of best salad oil, or butter, adding not more than a teaspoonful of oil at a time, and beating it well. One teaspoonful of mustard, a large pinch of salt, a tiny bit of cayenne pepper, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, two of vinegar, the juice of one lemon, and lastly the whites of the two eggs well beaten. Beat the mixture for several minutes and then thin with vinegar to suit the taste; put into a glass can and keep cool and dark. It is a great convenience to have the dressing ready, as so many times one might make a salad if so much time were not required for making a smooth dressing.

A pretty dish is made of oranges and bananas; slice the oranges across so that you will have thin, round slices; use an equal quantity of bananas, also sliced; put the fruit into a salad bowl in layers, then pour over them a mixture made thus: to the juice of three oranges and one lemon add four ounces of sugar, one gill of sherry wine, and the white and shell of one egg. Beat this all together until thoroughly mixed, let it come to a boil, and then set it on the back of the stove, where it will simmer gently for five minutes; strain it and pour it over the fruit; let it stand where it will cool rapidly. If you choose, you may add gelatine to this syrup, and make a jelly which will look well when turned out of the bowl upon a platter. A heaping tablespoonful of gelatine will be sufficient for the quantity of syrup here mentioned.

To wash silk stockings, mittens, linen etched with silk, etc., an exchange says dissolve a very little white castile soap in lukewarm water, and wash the article quickly, with a little rubbing as possible. Do not wring, but press the water out and rinse in clear water, squeeze in a crash towel and dry in the shade. When nearly dry fold in a towel and press under a weight. Fancy stores have a process for fixing the color of embroidery silk so it will not run when washed, but the means employed are a trade secret. Another exchange says that dark colored fine cotton and lisle hosiery can be kept from fading when washed by adding a large spoonful and a half of black pepper to a pailful of hot suds. When the water becomes cool enough to wash colored things put the stockings in, wash them, rinse in one water and hang up in a shady place to dry. The pepper sets the color.

The Increase of Insanity.

Boston supports 800 insane, says Mr. T. B. Sanborn, not 75 of whom will recover!

This is frightful! Insanity has increased 40 per cent in a decade and most of the cases are incurable. Whatever the individual cause may be, the fact remains that Uric Acid blood sets the brain on fire, destroys its tissues, and then comes some form of fatal lunacy.

Nothing is so pitiable as a mind diseased. Most brain troubles begin in the stomach; then if the blood is filled with uric acid, caused by failure of kidney action, and the consequent destruction of the blood life—albumen—you have the fuel and the flame and a brain in full blaze as when one raves, or in slow combustion, as in milder forms of insanity. Rev. E. D. Hopkins, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., a few years ago was confined in an asylum. He took a terrible cold while aiding in putting out a fire in a neighbor's burning house, and for twenty-five years that cold was slowly filling his blood with uric acid and finally the deadly work was done. The case looked hopeless but he happily used Warner's safe cure and recovered. That was three years ago and having riddden his blood of all surplus uric acid, he has remained well until this day.

It is indeed a terrible thing to lose one's mind, but it is a more terrible thing to suffer such a condition when it can be so easily prevented.

Judge Not From Appearance.

A true woman's heart is always responsive to the touch of tenderness. Sometimes a very little thing strikes the chord, and the whole sympathetic nature is awakened, as a little gleam of sunlight upon a landscape often calls out the beauties of a picture and surprises and charms the beholder. A lady in Newton took up the last Bee, and glancing over the first page, her eyes fell upon that little poem "Yawcob Strauss," by Charles F. Adams, and not relishing the style, she turned to her husband and said, "Why do they put such stuff in the paper?" "Stuff," said he, "just let me read that for you." He took the paper and read the verse describing the busy, childish rogueries of the boy and the vexation and weariness of the parent, till he came to the last verse, when the little busybody had found rest in sleep—

"But yet he was asleep in bed, So quiet as a mouse, I pray'd he Lord, 'Dake any dings, But leave that Yawcob Strauss."

The sympathetic chord of a mother's heart was touched, and turning suddenly away she burst into a flood of tears. She had lost two jewels, and had seen them hidden away in the grave, and had missed the patter of their tiny feet and the music of their cheery voices. There is a touch of pure nature in those simple words.

The World's Champion.

Mr. Edward Hamlin, the great oarsman, and until his recent contest with Hamlin in Australia, the champion of the world, may certainly be looked upon as an authority in everything affecting athletic sports. Before leaving Australia for this country, he wrote a letter in which he stated that he had used St. Jacobs Oil with the most beneficial results. He found it a reliable remedy for muscular pains in the arms and limbs, and from his personal experience took great pleasure in recommending it. No stronger proof of the truth of what is claimed for St. Jacobs Oil could be furnished than this, and it will undoubtedly carry great weight with all thoughtful and intelligent people.

The Pierre (Dak.) University.

The dedication of McCormick Hall of the Dakota University of Pierre, took place at the session of the Synod of Dakota. The address was made by Dr. Gause of Chicago. President Blackburn of the Pierre university, also delivered an able address. The following selections were by unanimous vote duly confirmed as professors in the university: Prof. H. P. Wilber, professor of physics; Prof. Hitchcock, professor of the ancient languages; Miss Grace Dickinson, instructor in music. Prof. Wilber has been teaching in the institute for a year. Prof. Hitchcock comes direct from the Johns Hopkins university, and brings the highest credentials; while Miss Dickinson is from the Boston Conservatory of Music. With this able corps of instructors, the success of Pierre's university seems fully insured.

Would You Believe It. Nature's great remedy, Kidney-Wort, has cured many obstinate cases of piles. This most distressing malady generally arises from constipation and a bad condition of the bowels. Kidney-Wort acts as a time as a cathartic and a healing tonic, removes the cause, cures the disease and promotes a healthy state of the affected organs. James F. Moyer, carriage Manfr. of Myerstown, Pa., testifies to the great healing powers of Kidney-Wort, having been cured by it of a very bad case of piles which for years had refused to yield to any other remedy.

George W. Hunter, a wealthy citizen of Echols county, Ga., while out corraling his cattle was shot from ambush and instantly killed.

The Old and the New.

The old-style pills? Who does not know What agony they caused—what woe? You walked the floor, you groaned, you sighed, And felt such awful pain inside, And the next day you felt so weak You didn't want to move or speak. Now Pierce's "Pellés" are so mild They are not dreaded by a child. They do their work in painless way, And leave no weakness for next day. Thus proving what is oft confessed That gentle means are always best.

of life is the blood. From it the system receives all its material of growth and repair. It bathes every tissue of the body. How necessary, then, that the blood should be kept pure and rich.
