SHOCKING MURDER.

A Young Man Butchers His Wife, in the Most Horrible Manner.

Mysterious Abduction Case at Romness, on the Sheyenne.

A Reminiscence of the Reign of Louis XV.

WIFE MURDER.

A man named Andrew Brownson, living on section 37, just east of Cooperstown, had trouble with his wife last evening, which resulted in his cutting her throat from ear to ear, severing the jugular vein, and completely disemboweling her, dragging her entrails upon the ground for 200 yards. A physician was instantly called by Mrs. Z. Tomalson, who was making a fashionable call at the Brownson residence at the time of the tragedy, and he dressed the poor woman's wounds. At last accounts she was quiet, and doing as well as could be expected.

Mr. Brownson is one of our most estimable citizens, and has been spoken of for the legislature. It is feared, however, that by his inconsiderate action he has rendered himself unpopular.

The deceased was a fine housekeeper, with a pleasing tout ensemble; but (let us forget it) she was somewhat given to playing the "Maiden's Prayer" on the accordion. She, however, has quit it.

SAD ACCIDENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Hogeboom, who live west of the village, had the misfortune to lose their infant daughter last evening, about supper time. The child was rather diminutive for her age, which was two months, and the fond mother had been accustomed, while engaged in her household duties, to put the little thing in the tea pot for safety. Yesterday, she carelessly forgot to tell the hired girl about it, and—and—the hired girl made tea without waking the baby up, and—and they have had her arrested for assault with a kettle of hot water. Little Mchitable, this is a cold world; but the hired girl did her best to make it warm for you.

ABDUCTION AND OUTRAGE.

Miss Lily Pickett, a young lady of thirty-seven summers, has mysteriously disappeared from her claim, near Romness, and it is feared she has been abducted, with sinister designs. She had snappy black eyes, was a little ball in front, and wore a number ten shoe. Anybody hearing of such a person being held in captivity, will do her a kindness by stampeding her toward home.

AN OLD SETTLER.

St. John d'Etioles, a French settler on the Sheyenne, celebrated his 144th birthday last week. He was born in Normandy, November 5, 1741, and was a full brother to Madam d' Pompadour, the mistress of Louis XV. Louis treated her with inhuman cruelty, compelling her to wear her hair like George Clark and Manly Davis, which so enraged St. John that, under the nom de guerre of Damienus, he jabbed the king in the ribs with an asbestos napkin, afterwards making his escape by way of Joppa, to India, where he enlisted in Joe Allen's company, and fought through the Crimean war. After buying his twenty-first wife, he made up his mind he had enough of war, and settled on the Sheyenne, where he is now, prosperous and happy. Since he came to Griggs county his hair has grown black again, and he has cut his third set of $8 store teeth.

*Old Schemerhorn has been complaining of the scarcity of local news in the COURIER; and in the hope of catching his $2, we have taken extra pains to get such news as will gratify his morbid love of the bloody and mysterious.

To Our Readers.

We cannot too strongly urge upon our readers the necessity of subscribing for a family, weekly newspaper of the first class—such, for instance as THE INDEPENDENT, of New York. Were we obliged to select one publication for habitual and careful reading to the exclusion of all others; we should choose unhesitatingly The Independent. It is a newspaper, magazine, and review, all in one. It is a religious, a literary, an educational, a story, an art, a scientific, an agricultural, a financial, and a political paper combined. It has 32 folio pages and 22 departments. No matter what a person's religion, politics or profession may be, no matter what the age, sex, employment or condition may be, The Independent will prove a help, an instructor, an educator. Our readers can do no less than to send a postal for a free specimen copy, or for thirty cents the paper will be sent a month, enabling one to judge of its merits more critically. Its yearly subscription is $3.00, or two years for $5.00.

Address, The Independent, 251 Broadway, New York City.—Adv.

A Tale of Nine Cities.

Is the euphonious title of a little book, giving a brief description of the points of interest in the nine principal cities of the great Northwest and Far West, viz: Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis Council Bluffs, Omaha, Denver, San Francisco, and Portland, Oregon. A correct colored map of each city is made a part of this instructive book, which is being distributed by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway. For a free copy, address A. V. H. Carpenter, General Passenger Agent, Milwaukee, Wis., or W. H. Dixon, A. G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

STOP Before subscribing for an agricultural paper, consider where it is published, and whether the teaching are adapted to the latitude in which you live. Farming in the Northwest cannot be conducted as it is East and be successful. FARM, STOCK & HOME, of Minneapolis, is edited by the farmers of the Northwest themselves, and is the best, most practical and reliable paper a farmer can have. It is printed twenty-four times a year for only 50 cents; or we will send it and a copy of the COURIER for Two Dollars.
