Pigs.

Cooper's pigs are not so byusefly handsome, but they are "gol derved" sociable, and numerous, that the lambent air about the Terminal Town is often blue with suppressed profanity, and several of the neighbors have roast pig for dinner every day. R. C. says he is getting even with the town for the depredations of the metropolitan cattle in his wheat fields. It was a beautiful sight, Sunday, to see about ninety of the peccaries, in solemn procession, single file, go round and round the Palace hotel. If Bowden had had any enterprise, he would have had a celler full of fresh pork before the vesper hour. Just now, as we glanced out through the open door, over the landscape, through the most delightful air that ever blessed a country on the 10th day of November, there were pigs to the right of us, and to the left of us—just a shimmering sea of infantile hog, revelling in the joyousness of their porcine nature, and vegetable mould. The breath of the mystical Indian summer was redolent of pig. Verily, Cooperstown is the Cincinnati of the Northwest!

Grand Benefit Entertainment.

The Cooperstown Literary society will give a Literary and Musical entertainment, Thursday evening, Nov. 19, at the Court House. Whidden, Benj. McCormick, F. L. Cowen, Master George Barnard. The laughable farce, Leson Parle Francais, will be reproduced. Admission, 35 cents; children, 25 cents. No reserved seats.

Rev. Thomas Sims has recieved a formal call from the First Congregational church of Cooperstown at a salary of $1,200 per year. The letter states that it is not only the unanimous wish of the church society to have Mr. Sims go among them, but of the people at large. Mr. Sims will hold the matter in abeyance for a few days, and it is hoped our people will make strenuous endeavors to retain him in his present charge. Mr. Sims is a pulpit orator of rare ability, a model pastor and a pleasant gentleman, whose place would be exceedingly hard to fill.—Valley City Times.
