A Wild Ride.

Saturday evening, as the Broadlawn drove of bronchos was being corralled for the night at Hunter's yard, the number of spectators rattled the animals, whereupon they stampeded. They were headed and returned a number of times to the yard, only to stampede again, and go thundering across the prairie in a cloud of dust, the herders in hot pursuit. Finally, fifty strong, they took a header for Nelson's wire fence. A. W. Ireland, a cow boy from Wayback, who rides like a Comanche, saw the danger, and running the rowels of his spurs into his fine black's sides, till the blood spurted, went thundering to head them off. Just as the leader, a fleet bay mare, was about to strike the barbed wire, Ireland reached her head and turned her course, saving the drove; but Ireland and the black kept straight ahead—it was too late to stop. Into the net they went, horse and rider, in an indistinguishable writhing mass of torn flesh. The other riders extricated Ireland from beneath the black. He was found terribly shaken up, while the horse presented a horrible appearance—the right fore leg being nearly cut in twain, and the rest of his body gashed and torn in a shocking manner. Ireland is delirious for a few days, while the black will never run again.

There ought to be an ordinance passed prohibiting fast driving on the streets. Tuesday, Hunter's express came "round the bend" on the dead run, seriously injuring several bird dogs, and smashing the wagon against Lawrence Bros' sign post. The officers finally arrested the horse and took him back to the stable. The unusual exuberance of spirits is attributed to green oats. The animal evidently thought he was fast, and wished to convert the wagon into a two wheeled sulky. Baggage was delivered along the road with great celerity.

No sooner had this incident occurred, than Judge MacLaren, A. Haskell, and Wm. Glass were observed tearing along the Appian way in very unseemly haste, after a couple of Oregon trotters. If you wish to speed your horses gentlemen, there is a half-mile track east of town.

Andrew Johnson then appeared with his celebrated trotter, Prince J., to all intents and purposes running away. This created great excitement, until Mr. Johnson explained that his horse was improving his gait.

Pres. Curtiss hitched his team opposite the old hole in the wall, Saturday, and a fly lightning on the side walk near by, sent them around town on the dead run. Pres. yelled, "Aint that Christopher Columbus!" and finally captured them after they had smashed the wagon.

Mr. Hans Odgaard, of Brookings, D. T., has been visiting relatives in the county during the last two weeks. He is much pleased with the northern country.

Sever Serungard departed, Monday, for the University of Minnesota, where he will complete his education. Mr. Serungard is a hard student, and will, no doubt, have a success career.

We have received the wedding cards of J. T. Odgaard and Anna Sophie Omever, who were married in Fargo, August 6. We wish the couple long life and felicity.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for September comes to us with a first-class steel-engraving, "Don't Be Greedy," after a picture by the celebrated German artist, Schutze. There are also a double-sized colored fashion-plate; a colored design for a tidy on Java canvas; and some fifty wood-engravings of the fashions, work-table patterns, etc. The stories are exceptionally good. Address Charles J. Peterson, 206 Chestnut St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Contest—U. S. Land office, Fargo, D. T., June 29, 1886. Complaint having been entered at this office by Thorbjorn Aadson, against Perez B. Grow, for failure to comply with law as to timber-culture entry No. 653, dated Feb. 11, 1882 upon the new section 14, township 13N., range 58E., in Griggs county, Dakota Territory, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; contestant alleging that the said Perez B. Grow has failed to comply with the requirements of the timber-culture law; that he has wholly failed to plant the second five acres to trees, tree seedlings, or cuttings, since making said entry, and up to the present time; that the present condition of said tract is wild, uncultivated prairie.

IF FARMERS

In the Northwest would consider that here the climate, soil and seasons differ from other sections of the United States they would see at once that different management must be observed and methods employed to make farming and stock-raising successful; hence the necessity of giving a preference to agricultural reading, especially suited to these pursuits in this section. GRAIN AND STOCK-RAISING, POULTRY AND BEE management, PLANTING, FRUIT and VIGOROUS culture as it should be conducted in the Northwest, is reliably given in FARM, STOCK AND HOME, edited by Col. John H. Stevens, a farmer and resident of Minnesota since 1869, assisted by many practical farmers of recognized authority. It is just the paper every farmer in the Northwest should have; is published the 1st and 15th of every month—24 times yearly—and furnished at the very low subscription price of only 50 cents a year. Sample copy free. Write for it. Agents wanted. Address
FARM, STOCK AND HOME,
Minneapolis, Minn.

We as farmers of the Northwest recognize in FARM, STOCK AND HOME an earnest, vigorous, consistent and effective worker in the advocacy of a policy to arrest the extortions of railroads and other monopolies, and save to farmers the fruits of their labor.
