Michaels says that not only hogs, but moon struck young couples must keep out of the court house yard, hereafter. Can it be that the genial sheriff, with seven children, is envious of those indulging in love's young dream? Look out, Nick! Ruggles has his eye on you.

Hiram Williams informed the Court Monday that he and several others were about to survey ground between Hannaford and Devils Lake, for a canal to connect Devils Lake with the raging Red at Fargo. He thinks the fall between the two points will be about 150 feet, and if necessary he can empty the lake out, fish and all, and leave Devils Lake City as dry as a Cooperstown saloon. Several locks will be necessary—one at Howdenville, one at Hannaford and one at Richardson's crossing, on Bald Hill creek. This will give Howden, Richardson and Brophy valuable water power, and fresh fish every day in the year. He expects to be the president of the company with the aforesaid gentleman as vice presidents. No passes will be issued. The scheme is a novel one and if the Pioneer succeeds he will be entitled to great credit—and very few people around here can get any credit without a chattel mortgage.
