> known man had been found near Moorhead, was followed yesterday by an inquest ppon the body, by Coroner Darrow, of Clay County, before a jury composed of H. Rasmusson, P. H. Lamb, Thomas O'Neill, A. G. Lewis. S. T. nonson and S. Torgerson.

The body was found Saturday morning by Joel Larson, a twelve year old boy, on the farm of his father ten miles with of Moorhead. It was brought to sorhead yesterday and the inquit fid at the undertaking recess of Book the horizon. Mosses, stunted shrubs, dwarfish trees and huddle-berry bushes are about the only vegetation, and the bare mountains, in the grip of great glaciers, and the generally dead and desolate aspect of the country make it appear as strange and unreal as that gray corpse of a world, the moon. Oryolite looks like ice, and hence the name signifies ice stone. It is all taken to Philadelphia, and is used in manufacturing sods, alum, lye, porcelain piano keys, door knobs, clock dials and other articles. The seven barks in the trade each carry about 800 tons of this strange mineral, and make fourteen voyages in a year. Last year they brought 4,600 tens to this country.—Open Wil-
