AROUND TOWN.

The Fourth.

The train'll come tearing along the rails—
The biggest train in sight;
With Buckley squat on her safety valve
And her furnace crammed with lignite.
And Leggett'll sit in his easy chair
And count a thousand head
Of those that pay an' those that pass
And those that ride—deadhead.

Judge Francis is holding a term of court at Valley City.

It is said that one hundred Hopes will come over to Cooperstown on the Fourth. We hope so.

The wind storm of last Thursday did considerable damage northeast of Hope. Many farm buildings were either entirely demolished or badly injured. Among the worst sufferers were Deacon Smith, whose damaged to the extent of $150, and Thomas Ward, whose barn was blown to pieces. E. K. Kringlee had his house and barn entirely demolished, he had four horses in the barn, and strange to say, they all escaped uninjured; Selva Haugen's house was entirely demolished, but his family, who were in it at the time, escaped uninjured. E. D. Wallace lost the roof off his granary and had his blacksmith shop blown down. Johnny Vandusen lost one half of his granary; H. Bentley lost his house, barn and granary; the family took refuge in the cellar and were nearly deluged by the water pouring in upon them. Prof. Mitchell, superintendent of schools of Cass county, lost his large granary on section 25, 145, 54. Many other farms lost more or less.—Pioneer.

Capt. Simington is getting to be a crack shot on Peoria pigeons.

N. C. Rukke was in town Tuesday and affixed his autograph to the local option petition.

The citizens of Steele county held a meeting at Sherbrooke Saturday to consider the local option bill.

The Ladies Aid society will serve ice cream, cake, sandwiches and other good things in their lower room near the grand marquee, on the Fourth. Rocking chairs to rest in.

Miss C. L. Angell narrowly escaped meeting with a serious accident, Tuesday, while riding with Mrs. W. R. Whidden, by the horse taking fright and running away, throwing Miss Angell out of the carriage and shaking her up considerably. Luckily Mrs. Whidden was not in the vehicle at the time of the accident, and, of course, was not hurt, although badly frightened.

While at work on the new Baptist church, Tuesday, Ed. Ross sustained a severe sprain of the ankle by falling a distance of fifteen feet from a scaffold.

M. W. Lawrence returned Saturday night from St. Paul where he had been for several days, purchasing a large invoice of goods.

Everybody should visit the bower conducted by the Ladies' Aid society, the Fourth, as they are assured of being royally entertained.

Prof. Hodge, P. E. Nelson, Al. Wanderlich, and Miss Cynthia Hampton, as accompanist, will furnish the music on the Fourth for the afternoon dance.

Miss Aggie Olson, who has been visiting with Miss Cynthia Hampton, has returned to her home in Wisconsin.

Sweet strains of music were wafted to the pedestrians and residents of Burrell avenue, Tuesday and Wednesday evening. It was the orchestra practicing for the Fourth of July bowery dance.

Tuesday evening and Wednesday we were favored with a few showers, which, although not very heavy, will help the crops.

The horse and pony races on the glorious 4th give promise to be of much interest.

There will be an abundance of red lemonade to drink on the 4th. From the amount of opposition in that line of trade it is probable that three glasses for a nickel will be the price—guaranteed to taste of lemon.

The News acknowledges the receipt of a complimentary ticket to the Fourth of July celebration and festivities at Cooperstown, D. T., which ticket has the program printed on its reverse side. The ticket is accompanied by a printed address which is signed by the celebration committee and was evidently written by Hon. F. H. Adams, editor of the Cooperstown Courier. The address is funny as the concluding portion of it, herewith copied, will show:—Moorlead News.

The sheriff has offered a reward for the apprehension of S. A. Clausen. His escape from Rutgers has not materially brightened his prospects if captured. It seems that instead of starting a drug store in Montana his goods and chattels had never been removed from the Cooperstown station. He brought his trunk with him and said he intended to open up the "drug store" again. While all other pigs were pulled Clausen heretofore had borne a charmed life. His bold return, immediately the grand jury had adjourned, shows gall; but his return in the face of three indictments, and $5,000 bail, shows more than gall,—it shows a contempt for the law and a wonderful confidence that the engines of justice would leave him uninjured. He has probably learned that "it is better you don't put your trust in princes."

The Hope base ball club will go to Cooperstown on the Fourth of July to contest with the Valley City base ball club for a purse of $50. Cooperstown will have a big time on the Fourth and as Hope will not attempt to celebrate this year, we advise all our people to go to Cooperstown.—Hope Pioneer.

Fred Adams has favored us with a complimentary ticket to the Cooperstown 4th of July celebration. We would like to be with you on that occasion dear Fred, but don't you know congress passed a pass act which caused the editors to pass in their passes and prevents them passing over the railway as frequently as in the past.—Alliance.

Wm. Retzlaff had John Rickford sent, for Saturday, to answer to a charge of stealing hay from the former's tree claim. When it became apparent that a man couldn't have a tree claim on a railroad section the case was abandoned.

H. V. Safford and wife, of Willow, were in town Tuesday. Mr. S. favored the COURIER with a call and on asking his views on the liquor question, he said he was in favor of prohibition. He reports crops looking well but much in need of rain.

Billy Simons, armed with a sixteen foot pole, goes around the outside of the Palace singing, "Woe the swallows 'omeward fly." He says the bloody, blasted things 'ave hall got to be exterminated before 'e lets hup on 'em.

The Farmers Alliance of Valley City last week completed another year of its travels over the rough and uneven path of journalism, and starts in again with the expression that if "grit and energy" are of any avail, it will get right to the front.

The parties not able to serve on these committees will please report to Maynard Crane, secretary.

Base Ball.

The game Saturday between the Cooperstown and Marcell nines resulted in a victory for the home club by a score of three to one. Both clubs have good material but show the need of practice. The nines were made up as follows:
COOPERSTOWN. MARDELL.
Condy. Anderson.
Haines. Mouson.
McCormick. Olson.
DeVault. Olson.
Smith. Nolegard.
Wasser. Nelson.
Ruggles. Arneson.
Michaels. Nelson.
McGuire. Qualey.

Monson and Anderson of the Marcell nine have the material in them to make good ball players. Condy, Miller and DeVault, of the Cooperstown nine, impressed the spectators as ball players. E. W. Blackwell make a good umpire, and showed himself familiar with the game. Under loose umpiring the score might have been larger.
