CURRENT COMMENT.

BEFORE the century is out it is estimated that London will have population of 7,000,000.

THE painters Muncaesy and Angeli are among the first members of Kaiser Francis Joseph's new order of Arts and Letters.

A SOUTHERN editor recalls the fact that one of General N. B. Forrest's favorite orders was: "Forward, boys, and mix with 'em."

AN old lady of Versailles was so anxious to see the Pranzini's execution that she paid £6 per day for a week for a room opposite the prison.

TWO enormous swans cut in ice were novel and beautiful features of the table at the reception given Mrs. Cleveland by Mr. Childs at Wootton.

MRS. FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT, the authoress, who is journeying in France, is filling her note book with continental scenes for a new novel.

THE Mayors of all French cities have been again ordered to prepare lists of all Germans in their district for the use of the Ministry of the Interior.

BBET HARTE, who was for some years United States Consul at Glasgow, is very unpopular among the people of that city, owing to his unsocial disposition.

BETWEEN seventy-five and 100 young ladies of Atlanta, Ga., and vicinity have agreed to form a mounted escort to President Cleveland and wife on the occasion of their visit to the Piedmont fair.

THE young Duc d'Orleans, eldest son of the Comte de Paris, is soon to start on a tour round the world. He will spend the winter in Egypt, India, and Japan. In the spring he will reach San Francisco and make a leisurely examination of this country. The Duke is now 18 years of age and almost abnormally fat. His profile and puffy cheeks greatly resemble portraits of Louis XVI.

COLONEL FREDERICK D. GRANT was the Union army during a considerable portion of the war of the rebellion, though he was too young to take a hand in the fighting. He accompanied his father through the Fort Henry and Fort Donelson campaigns, the siege of Vicksburg, and the Wilderness and Petersburg campaigns. The boy was often on the scene of actual conflict, and was once wounded.

GOV. JARVIS of North Carolina, at present Minister to Brazil, will resign his position and return to his State, where he will make an effort to become the successor of Senator Ransom. The Democrats in North Carolina are in a bad way and the Republicans and Independents control one branch of the Legislature, so that there is a fighting chance for a Republican United States Senator from that State.

GOV. GORDON was asked at Philadelphia what progress the colored people were making in Georgia and replied: "They are advancing. The negroes see the advantages of education and every colored child in the State is anxious to get all the scholastic advantages possible. As soon as the colored man becomes educated he becomes self-respecting and a better citizen. He wants to own a home and he will make every sacrifice to purchase one. Once he becomes a landowner he becomes also a good citizen."

MR. RULE LETCHER, of Missouri, United States Consul at Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil is complained of by the fastidious residents of that town for a too frequent indulgence in the seductive but intoxicating liquors of that tropical clime, united with an irrepressible desire after such indulgence for painting the town a bright vermilion. One of Consul Letcher's favorite pastimes, it is alleged, is drawing his revolver and firing half a dozen shots in quick succession, to the great annoyance of more peaceably-disposed citizens.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

A mammoth salt company, composed of all the large manufacturers in the United States, is about to be formed. It will be known as the "National Salt Union," and will be headquarters for the salt supply of the whole country. Delegates from salt firms in Ohio, Michigan and New York met in this city within the past week and made arrangements for a union, and another meeting will be held soon for organization and election of officers. The object of the union is mutual protection and to keep up the prices, so as to be able to compete with foreign manufacturers. The company will be composed of sixty-three companies in all, eleven in the Pittsburgh salt company, nine in New York, thirty in Michigan and thirteen in Ohio. An office will probably be located in Pittsburgh.

Gen. Roger A. Pryor, speaking of his connection with the Chicago Anarchist case, said: "I have nothing whatever to do with the popular side of the case. I have no concern with the question of sympathy with the anarchists or their cause. I am retained simply as a lawyer who is to endeavor to induce the supreme court to reverse the decision of the Illinois court. Just what will be the form of the appeal I cannot now say, but we shall attack the constitutionality of the Illinois law regarding the construction of the jury. This law has been in operation since 1874, and has not been passed upon by the supreme court. The law of Illinois relating to conspiracy will not enter into our application."

Jay Gould's telegraph may have a bill to pay for a costly blunder in transmitting, a telegram from Washington to Boston about the Government bond offers, whereby thousands of dollars were lost. The figures named as the maximum that would be accepted were given as $124,000,000 instead of $14,000,000. Investors and speculators hurried to the street with early orders to buy all the local specialties and everything else at big advances over former figures. The correction did not come for nearly an hour after the stock exchange opened, and then those who had been deceived hastened to unload. Several local stocks went off two or three points, and there was a howl of disgust from those who got caught.

J. A. Stewart, at Wichita, Kansas, was sentenced to seventeen years and four months in the county jail and fined $20,500, with costs of prosecution, for the violation of the Prohibition law. He was a clerk in the West End Drug Store and pleaded guilty to an indictment containing 2,800 counts at the same time as did Hermann, the proprietor of the place. The latter cannot be found, and it is thought that he has left the country. The punishment imposed upon Stewart is the heaviest ever given in the State for violation of the liquor laws.

Portland, Mich., is much wrought up over the report that the Collins homestead, where Mrs. Collins was shot dead about a year ago, is haunted. A party of four made a quiet investigation. They spent a night in the house and confirm the stories told, claiming that Mrs. Collins appeared to them in worldly form; talked plainly, but in a low voice, about her death; exonerated her husband, who was at one time suspected of her murder; said the gun was discharged by a child by accident, and then she disappeared.

The wise and timely action of the Government in offering to buy at once $14,000,000 in bonds had an immediate effect and eased up Wall street surprisingly. Call money was offered in abundance at 2 and 4 per cent. and one institution found it had $1,000,000 to loan at 6 per cent. for 90 days on mixed collateral, and smaller loans were offered and made on about the same terms. Mercantile houses were able to place paper on highly advantageous terms.

For a few days there has been a stringency in the money market at New York, but the country generally was not affected and the Northwest has been especially free from pressure. The Treasury department is buying bonds freely and thus relieving the situation, which is not at all serious or panicky. In fact, the bonds do come forward in such amounts as to indicate that there is any pinch of moment even in Wall street.

O. M. Johnston, a Cincinnati usurer, has come to grief. Under pretense of helping the poor he advanced them small sums of money and executed bills of sale on their household effects. He charged them a premium for the money that was simply astounding. The case was heard by Judge Caldwell. The sentences ranged from the prison, and he trembled visibly as the words "$1,000 and costs" were pronounced.

Prof. Foster, the Burlington Hawkeye weather prophet, has contracted for the following weather for October: October is a hurricane month, but no very great storm is expected. Heavy frost about the 3d, 9th, 19th, 25th and 30th.

A mutiny of convicts is reported at the Knoxville Iron company's mine at Coal creek, Tenn. They refused to go to the mines and the guards opened fire on them wounding three or four. One is thought to be mortally wounded. The cause of the trouble is said to have been the refusal of the superintendent to move the coal away from the mouth of the pit, thus preventing free circulation of air.

The steamship Alesia, from cholera infected parts of Italy arrived at New York with cholera on board. On the voyage over there were eight deaths. Dr. Hamilton, surgeon-general of the marine hospital service at New York says there is no occasion for alarm and that the malady will not spread in this country.

Ellsworth Anderson was shot and mortally wounded by a woman named Meadows at Harrodsburg, Ind., Saturday night, while trying to force his way into her house. He was under the influence of liquor and had been rebuffed by the woman once, with the warning that if he returned she would shoot him.

Massachusetts Democrats.

The Massachusetts Democrats held their state convention at Worcester on the 20th. An informal ballot was taken for Governor, H. B. Lovering having 638 votes, Wm. E. Russell 336, necessary to a choice 501. The nomination of Lovering was made unanimous. The committee on the balance of the ticket reported as follows: Lieutenant-Governor, Walter E. Cutting, of Pittsfield; secretary, John E. Murphy, of Plymouth; treasurer, Henry C. Thatcher, of Yarmouth; attorney-general, J. W. Corcoran, of Clinton; auditor, Wm. Cook, of Springfield. The report was received and the above ticket unanimously carried.

The following were elected delegates at large to the national convention: F. A. Collins, Boston; Jonas H. French, Gloucester; John W. Cummings, Fall River; Josiah G. Abbott, Boston. The following alternates were chosen: Charles G. Lewis, Framingham; James E. Delaney, Holyoke; Godfrey Morse, Boston, and John R. Thayer, of the resolutions adopted the first congressional platform upon the success of the present administration, and the second the President for his fidelity to his ante-election pledges.

Resolution three declares that important offices in the civil service should be filled by those in sympathy with the administration.

The resolutions continue by expressing the belief that the power of congress to tax the people is unlimited to the requirements of the government; denouncing the system that produces revenue beyond that extent as unwise; favoring a revision of the present unjust and burdensome tariff laws, favoring the release of the increasing and unnecessary surplus in the treasury; favoring the application of the income derived by the government from the internal revenue tax to the discharge of the burdens imposed on the people; approving the acts of congress forbidding the importation of contract labor; welcoming honest and industrious immigration; extending the deepest sympathy to the advocates of some rule for Ireland; advocating unrestricted ballot; denouncing payment of poll tax; pledging the earnest efforts of the party to further the interests of the wage earner; approving of the law making labor day a legal holiday, and commending its general observance.

The ninth and last plank indorses the candidates.

R., was stopped at Benbrook, a dozen miles from Fort Worth, Texas, by four masked highway men, who took possession of the engine and Mail and Express car, and in ten minutes time secured $30,000 from the Express safe and registered letters. One of them on being lighted, instead of going up in the air, exploded on deck igniting the pile of 60. The effect was tremendous. In a moment the death dealing rockets were sweeping the deck in every direction, burning, lacerating and maiming the helpless men. Some men were injured all being terribly burned and lacerated. At the suggestion of the president much proposed speech-making at the places to be visited has been abandoned, and instead an important feature in the programme at each place will be carriage rides about the cities over previously announced routes, which will gratify his desire to see the towns and their population and enable the people to see the president without the discomforts and dangers attending crowded rooms and platforms.
